CHANGES URGED TO PLUG GAPS IN WAGNER ACT

Vandenberg to Offer a Labor Code.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—Asserting that "there can be but one sovereignty—the sovereignty of government—in this country," Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] announced tonight that he will introduce in the senate this week three amendments to strengthen the Wagner national labor relations act.

The Vandenberg amendments would provide an improved procedure for collective bargaining, lay down a fair practice code for labor organizations paralleling the fair practice code for employers in the existing law, and impose legal responsibilities of contract upon labor organizations.

Under the terms of the amendments, sitdown strikes, coercion of persons to join labor organizations and interference with personal and property rights by mass picketing or otherwise would be unlawful.

Golden Egg Warning to Lewis.

In comments on the amendments Senator Vandenberg pointedly warned John L. Lewis and his following of the danger of the destruction of a "profitable economy and an orderly society" in which to enjoy labor's "broadening share in the fruits of its own production."

This move by the Michigan senator comes at the moment when the recent automobile manufacturing and current steel mill strikes have demonstrated the failure of the Wagner act to effect peaceful and orderly collective bargaining and preserve industrial peace. Chief shortcoming of the act is the confinement of its protection to the rights of majority employés. Senator Vandenberg would extend the protection to minority employés, employers and the public.

Popular Will Gets Results.

That such action will be welcomed by the public is indicated by the dramatic popular reaction in Ohio and Pennsylvania in the last few days against the coalition of John L. Lewis, President Roosevelt, Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania, and Gov. Davey of Ohio, which brought armed protection for illegal mass picketing with its violence and intimidation, closed the steel mills and denied thousands of nonstrikers the privilege of continuing at work.

Before the rising tide of indignation in these states both Earle and Davey beat a hasty retreat and executed a complete about face. Earle rescinded martial law at Johnstown and both he and Davey permitted the mills to reopen and directed the forces of the law to the protection of the right to work as well as to strike and to the enforcement of legal, peaceful picketing.

President Out on a Limb.

Politicians were quick to note that the retreat of the Democratic governors leaves Mr. Roosevelt out on a limb with Mr. Lewis, the President having exerted pressure on the employers to close the mills and thus deny work to nonstrikers without invoking corresponding influence to stop illegal mass picketing, violence and intimidation.

Subject also of widespread comment was the rift in the Democratic family. Democratic Gov. Davey accuses Secretary of Labor Perkins of having urged him to use his power of subpena to drag Tom Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, to Columbus and to keep him there till he consented to negotiate with Lewis. Davey said he spurned the proposition as tantamount to kidnaping.

Denied Similar Power Herself.

Miss Perkins admitted the suggestion of subpena but denied the intent of kidnaping. It was recalled that Miss Perkins during the General Motors strike sought legislation to confer such subpena power upon her. The Democratic leaders in congress refused to grant her such power.

Senator Vandenberg said that his first proposed amendment would permit employers to share with employés the right to demand elections under the Wagner act to determine the representatives of the employés in collective bargaining. It would also permit subsequent repeated elections at the option of either party upon the termination or the breach of a contract. It would require further that an election precede the assertion of any right of representation, thus ob-

GOV. TOWNSEND SAYS NO TO PLEA FOR SOLDIERS

Mills Predict Action This Afternoon.

Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana refused last night to send troops to East Chicago at the request of Mayor Andrew Rooney, thus balking, for the present at least, well organized plans to open the strike bound mills at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

Request for troops was telegraphed yesterday by Mayor Rooney, who asked that East Chicago be placed under martial law to protect employés anxious to go to work, and also to safeguard pickets, so that no violence of any kind could occur.

Plants of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel companies have been closed in East Chicago since May 26, when a strike was called by the steel workers' organizing committee, affiliated with John L. Lewis' radical Committee for Industrial Organization.

Protection Given in East.

Protection given by troops in eastern states has been a strong factor in peaceful resumption of work in plants, since the C. I. O. strike campaign began to crumble. The Youngstown and Inland companies have indicated that operations will be resumed as soon as adequate protection is assured to employés who wish to come back to work.

Gov. Townsend, in refusing to send troops, gave the excuse that he expected to announce a peace formula satisfactory to both sides today. He made this prediction after a conference in Indianapolis with Van A. Bittner, C. I. O. regional director, officials of the organizing committee, and state labor commissioners.

Anticipates No Trouble.

"There are no disturbances in East Chicago now, and I do not anticipate any," the governor said. "I do not believe that Mayor Rooney realizes how much progress has been made toward ending the strike."

One report last night was that in courtesy to the governor, the steel companies would take no action toward reopening until the nature of his negotiations is known, but that if it did not settle the crisis, they would issue a statement at 4 p. m. today declaring their doors open and inviting loyal employés to come back to work.

Citizens Offer Protection.

East Chicago business men and thousands of steel employés meanwhile joined in efforts to assure safety of men who want to go back to work, after being forced by the strike to do without pay for a month.

The business men offered to supplant Mayor Rooney's force of 65 policemen with vigilante squads in order to prevent violence, but the mayor refused their aid, preferring to apply to the governor for troops. He announced that he would guarantee the right to work and the right to peaceful picketing.

Ask Chance to Work.

Representatives of the independent union of employés of the Youngstown plant, known as the Association of Steel Employés, urged company officials to open the mills and provide work.

H. O. Brown, president of the union, and D. L. Ellinwood, its secretary, pointed out that though a majority of the employés did not want to strike, they were then unorganized and had to submit to the organized C. I. O. minority.

In another attempt to speed the back-to-work movement the independent union sought an appointment with Gov. Townsend today to back up Mayor Rooney's request for troops.

20,000 Jobs in Balance.

The jobs of more than 20,000 employés—at Inland plants in the Indiana Harbor district of East Chicago and Chicago Heights and Youngstown plants in East Chicago and South Chicago—depend upon pending decisions to reopen. The Republic Steel corporation, third independent company hit by the strike, has continued to operate its South Chicago plant.

Striking employés, meantime, meeting in the Indiana Harbor auditorium, heard Jack Rusak, C. I. O. organizer, announce a plan to combat the back-to-work drive. The strikers agreed to hold a massed picketing demonstration early today at both the Inland and Youngstown plants.

Rusak implored the 700 strikers at-

Allman Orders Strict Watch for Fireworks

Chicago police received orders yesterday to enforce strictly the city anti-fireworks ordinance. State officials also promised to see that the fireworks regulation act, passed at the last session of the general assembly, is obeyed.

Official support thus was added to the generation-old campaign for a Fourth of July celebration without injury or loss of life.

Police Commissioner Allman instructed all his men as follows:

"When you see children with fireworks of any description, toy guns, pistols, etc., you will take them to their parents and inform them that such is in violation of the city ordinance. You will see that the fireworks and toys are taken from the children, otherwise the parents will be prosecuted."

Quotes Kelly Proclamation.

The commissioner quoted a recent proclamation by Mayor Kelly suggesting that those who wish to honor Independence day should go to the third annual celebration of the Cook County council of the American Legion in Soldiers' field next Sunday.

The celebration will include a great fireworks display. Spectators will see the Chicago of 100 years ago outlined in the sky, and then an outline of the present famous skyline.

Airplane maneuvers by United States Naval Reserve pilots, exhibition drills by army and navy units, circus acts and parades of bands and Legionnaires also will be in the entertainment, which will be presided over by the "Queen of the Great Lakes," who will be selected and crowned at the start of the program.

Dangerous Types Outlawed.

Homer J. Byrd, superintendent of registration of the department of registration and education, discussed the terms of the state fireworks regulation act. This forbids retail sale of fireworks except from June 27 to July 4, inclusive, except that when the Fourth falls on Sunday, as it does this year, fireworks may be sold July 5.

The sale of fireworks to children under 12 years old without the consent of their parents is forbidden. The act outlaws dangerous types of pyrotechnics.

Fireworks venders, however, flaunted their wares in the city and the outlying villages yesterday at the possible expense of children's lives.

Barney Hawks Firecrackers.

In the midst of the teeming crowds at the Maxwell street markets, a man known as "Barney" stood hawking firecrackers from a brown paper shopping bag. To passersby, he called:

"Fireworks. Only a few left. Have a lot of fun for a nickel."

Other keepers of Maxwell street markets were anxious to direct prospective fireworks customers to roadside stands in unincorporated No Man's Land. More than a dozen roadside stands in Evergreen Park and Worth township, also outside the corporate limits of Chicago, did a land office business.

QUIZ SCULPTOR ON DETAILS OF TRIPLE MURDER

Police Seek Links to Establish Guilt.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—Handcuffed to a detective, Robert Irwin arrived in a chartered plane at Floyd Bennett airport tonight from Chicago, where he surrendered Saturday and confessed the Easter Sunday murder of beautiful Veronica Gedeon, her mother, and Frank Byrnes, a roomer in the Gedeon apartment here.

The avowed killer in one of the strangest and most talked of murder mysteries of recent years was hurried by automobile to police headquarters, where he was questioned for more than two hours by William C. Dodge, district attorney, and Lewis J. Valentine, police commissioner.

Plan Reënactment of Crime.

The officials announced after the questioning that they would ask the grand jury for three first degree murder indictments at the earliest possible moment.

The police said they intended to take Irwin to the Gedeon apartment at 316 East 50th street, in the fashionable Beekman Hill district, to have him reënact the crime.

Once he had shown them how he strangled Mrs. Mary Gedeon and Veronica and then stabbed Byrnes to death with an ice pick, the authorities indicated they would take from Irwin another confession to substantiate the one he gave in Chicago.

Upon the expected second confession and other evidence they have gathered the authorities planned to base their demand for indictments.

Will Reclaim Suitcases.

The police also expected to take Irwin to the Grand Central railroad station to have him reclaim suitcases he checked there before fleeing the city after the murders. It was disclosed that for weeks the police have been keeping watch on the lockers in which the grips were checked, hoping to trap Irwin if he came for them.

While Irwin was being questioned William Shields, lunch wagon operator and acquaintance of the young sculptor, was brought into the police headquarters. It was understood that Shields brought with him a bust of Veronica given him by Irwin, as well as some photographs of Irwin. The significance of Shields' appearance was not divulged.

Irwin Smiles on Arrival.

The plane landed at Floyd Bennett field at the request of Mayor La Guardia. A crowd of the curious, waiting for hours, was on hand to catch a glimpse of the confessed killer.

Irwin smiled as he stepped from the plane. He posed for pictures with Lieut. Martin S. Owen and Detective Frank J. Crimmins, who flew to Chicago to take him into custody and brought him back.

While there have been indications the sculptor would plead insanity, citing his treatment in an insane asylum as evidence, the belief that he is legally sane was voiced by Dr. Russell E. Blaisdell, superintendent of the Rockland State hospital where Irwin was a mental disease patient.

Dr. Blaisdell, Irwin's art patron while the young sculptor was in the hospital, based his opinion on the confession itself.

"Internal evidence in the purported confession indicates Irwin's legal sanity," Dr. Blaisdell said. "It shows a motive—that he went to the house believing he could relieve himself of his sex psychosis by murdering Ethel Gedeon Kudner [Veronica's sister].

Slayer Called Sane.

"More important, the statement in picturing Irwin's mental condition at the time points to his knowledge of the difference between right and wrong.

"If it is verified that the confession was given in Irwin's own words and without subjecting him to pressure, I would say from my knowledge of his history that the man was sane and can be tried for first degree murder."

Conviction for first degree murder would mean that Irwin could be sent to the electric chair.

A Rare Event! Nazis Cheer Britain's King

CASSEL, Germany, June 27.—(AP)—England stole the show at a rally of 150,000 German war veterans today when two British speakers made impassioned pleas for an understanding between Britain and Germany.

Col. George Crossfield.

Under the influence of their appeal to the big open air gathering it closed with cheers for King George VI.—an unusual proceeding in Germany, where, since the consolidation of Nazi power, all public demonstrations regularly close with cheers for Adolf Hitler only.

No foreigner was scheduled to speak at the rally, at which the principal oration was by Heinrich Himmler, leader of Hitler's hand picked guard troops. However, immediately after the officially approved program was finished and before the veterans could disperse, their leader, Col. Reinhard, announced two British guests would speak.

Duke's Adjutant a Speaker.

They were Col. George A. Crossfield, representing the British Legion, and Capt. Roy Fyers, personal adjutant of the duke of Connaught.

Col. Crossfield emphasized that regardless of any differences between the two nations "your comrades of the British Legion have the deepest respect for the German front fighters."

British veterans, he said, agree with German veterans that "every youth must be taught above all to love his own country and to defend it with his life—but also that this is no reason for hating other countries."

Hussars Are Honored.

Capt. Fyers announced he brought by special command of the duke of Connaught a decoration for the flag of the duke's old German regiment—the Ziethen Hussars. When the decoration was affixed to the regimental standard the veterans shouted their approval.

Col. Reinhard led the 150,000 in cheers for Britain's king.

BOY GOES OVER DAM; YOUTH FINDS HIM ALIVE BEHIND FALLS

Potsdam, N. Y., June 27.—(AP)—Caught beneath the falls when he was swept over a power dam here today, Morris Smith, 11 years old, was rescued one hour and 45 minutes later.

He had been swimming with companions, who reported he was missing. The village fire alarm was sounded and a search of the stream was made with grappling hooks.

When no body was found above the dam Paul Paro, 16, was lowered through the falls by a rope. He found the boy crouched against the bottom of the dam in three feet of water, the falls forming a screen in front of him.

WE GET A SNAKE THAT LOOKS HERE AND ROLLS THERE

A rolling rattlesnake that looks in one direction and travels another has been received at the Field Museum of Natural History, it was announced yesterday. The snake, known as a sidewinder, rolls—not wriggles—east when facing north, south when facing east, and so on, according to Karl P. Schmidt, curator of reptiles at the museum. It was one of 500 reptilian specimens collected on an expedition to the southwestern desert area.

Wrens and His Pants Have Poor Hubby All a-Flutter

Gotham, Wis., June 27.—(AP)—Carl Garner has wrens in his pants, and don't think he isn't perturbed about it. Carl's wife washed a pair of his practically brand new trousers and hung them on the line to dry. Later she saw two wrens busily carrying sticks and straw, building a nest in a trouser leg. The pants stayed on the line. "But what about me?" protested Carl. "Never mind about you," Mrs. Garner answered. "The birds need a home."

Naughty, Naughty! Mustn't Swear When Robbing Lady

Chivalry is not yet extinct in Chicago. A fat bandit and a skinny bandit were holding up Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kessler yesterday near their home at 1254 South Avers avenue. The skinny bandit, unable to pull a $350 diamond ring from Mr. Kessler's finger, swore loudly. "Sh!" the fat bandit admonished him. "A lady is present."

Pretty, These Moths! And So Many of 'Em!

They're here. They're there. They're everywhere. Some of them go in for rather gaudy clothes. Some dress conservatively. And some of them are, well, a little drab and behind the times in fashions.

A Visiting Moth.

But those moths that seem to be infesting the city really have hearts of gold and they'd be terribly hurt if they thought they were intruding. There are literally thousands of them, all over the city, cluttering sidewalks and flying in people's faces.

You Be Careful, Too.

Ordinarily, you see, they don't come in such crowds. But the spring was late this year. Then the weather turned so dreadfully warm a few days ago that they've all hatched out at once, according to William J. Gerhard, entomologist of the Field museum.

They aren't the kind of moths that get into your winter clothes and eat holes in them, Mr. Gerhard said. They're outdoor moths, careful of their own clothes, no matter how plain they may be, and careful of yours, too.

No Eggs, No Moths.

There are really a dozen different kinds, according to the entomologist. The handsomest of them are the hummingbird moths, whose hobbies are bright clothes and feasting on the nectar of flowers.

Soon the moths will be laying their eggs.

If you don't like moths, you'd probably just as soon they didn't. But it's important to them. If they didn't, there wouldn't be any moths this time next year.

Then, instead of complaining that there were too many moths, as likely as not you'd be telling people that you've never seen anything quite so pretty as those bright colored moths that used to come around in the summer time and saying you wish you'd see some of them.

there was little evidence against Irwin except his own confession, police revealed they expect to build a strong case against him.

One strong link in their chain of circumstantial evidence, they said, is a cheap alarm clock which belonged to Lucy Beacco, a roomer in the Gedeon apartment.

Alarm Clock Missing.

The alarm clock was on the dresser in Miss Beacco's room when she left the Saturday morning before the murder to spend the Easter week-end out of town. When she returned Monday morning, grateful for having escaped the fate that overtook all the three others in the apartment, the clock was missing.

It later was found in one of the black lether suitcases that Irwin had checked at the Grand Central station.

Surviving members of the Gedeon clan announced today that the knowledge that Irwin is in custody ended their worries about their own safety for the first time since the murders. They were found in conference with Peter L. Sabbatino, their attorney, in his apartment in the same building where the murders occurred.

Mrs. Kudner Nervous.

Mrs. Kudner, for whose love Irwin killed his three victims, was pale and nervous, as was her husband, Joseph Kudner. Irwin, according to his confession, had gone to the apartment to kill her because she had rejected him and married Kudner.

None too composed was Joseph Gedeon, father of Veronica. He was wearing a mourning band on his sleeve. Gedeon, who was himself once under suspicion in the case, snapped at a reporter who tried to interview him: "Go to hell!"

3,000 SEE TAKEOFF

Robert Irwin was surrendered to New York police by Chicago authorities at the close of a day of spectacular developments.

The moment the transfer was placed in writing the confessed murderer was hurried from the detective bureau into an automobile and then to the Chicago airport.

Three thousand persons, waiting for hours to see him, were at the airport when eight officials' cars, sirens screeching, raced up. At 6:29 p. m. Irwin was rushed into a chartered American Airlines plane, whose motor had been warming up for half an hour. The New York policemen stepped in after him.

Fans Take Own Pictures.

But when photographers clamored for a picture, the policemen freed him from his handcuffs and permitted him to return to the steps by which he had entered. At 6:32 p. m. the plane took off.

Many of the murder fans in the crowd snapped their own pictures. Their interest left officials of the major air lines wondering. The officials, it was reported, had entered an agreement not to sell the police and their prisoner reservations on a regular passenger plane to New York. But there were those in the crowd who hinted they would have paid extra fare to be able to tell their friends they had ridden in the same plane with the slayer.

Irwin Retells Confession.

Irwin, who surrendered and confessed here Saturday, repeated his confession to the Chicago police yesterday. He waived extradition and said he is not afraid of death in the electric chair, if that is the punishment the law decrees for him.

Although he had been the object of a nation-wide search, he never had been indicted.

From the first he expressed willingness to return to New York, even though there were no charges against him. A telegram from New York brought news late in the day that three charges of homicide had just been placed against him, pending action toward indictment.

Irwin, who is 29 years old, was jaunty, even giggling at times, as he repeated his earlier confession in the office of John L. Sullivan, chief of detectives. Slightly effeminate, he tried occasionally to hide this trait by blustering and shouting, but for the most part he was good natured and apparently unable to comprehend the gravity of his offense. He showed little remorse.

Casually Tells of Slayings.

Quite casually he repeated his amazing story: that he strangled Veronica, gay and beautiful model well known in the night clubs of New York, as incidental to his plan of killing her sister, Mrs. Ethel Kudner, who had repulsed him and married another. Just as incidentally, he said, he had strangled Veronica's mother, Mary, 54 years old, before Veronica arrived. And then, lest his crimes become known, he stabbed Byrnes to death with an ice pick.

By this time, he said, he had only one desire: to escape. So he fled from the Gedeon apartment in the swank Beekman Hill district of New York without waiting to see if Ethel would appear.

Shows Little Remorse.

Although he expressed little if any sorrow, he made it plain that he had not wished to kill Veronica, who was better known in the night life of New York as Ronnie. She was a beautiful blue-eyed blonde, he said, and he wished in his artist's way to preserve beauty. But, he explained, she had discovered his identity as he was overpowering her in the apartment, and he knew that if he did not kill her she would expose him as the murderer of her mother.

There were startling developments in the case throughout the day.

Shortly after dawn Lieut. Martin S. Owen and Detective Frank J. Crimmins of the New York police arrived to take into custody the young sculptor, who had given himself up and confessed here Saturday night.

But the New York officers gave little evidence of any intention of cooperating with the Chicago police who had met the plane in which the New Yorkers arrived.

Instead, the New Yorkers sped off at 80 miles an hour in a waiting car. Sergts. Michael McFadden and James McGurk of the detective bureau raced after them, took them into custody, and hurried them before Walter Storms, deputy chief of the detective bureau.

Storms warned the New York policemen that they would have to go through the customary legal procedure in obtaining the prisoner.

The New Yorkers accordingly went to the office of Sherif John Toman, where Toman and Chief Lester Laird of the county highway police were awaiting them.

Chief Sullivan arrived at the same time. He said that the Chicago police would question Irwin and determine whether he should be held here or turned over to New York. Toman said he would support the Chicago officers.

Irwin was taken to the detective bureau. There he calmly confessed.

The young sculptor was wearing a white gabardine suit and a spotless Panama hat. Except that he needed a shave, he looked like a prosperous young business man.

To the surprise of the New York police, who had expected to hurry him away without formality, Irwin was sent through the bureau of identification, where his fingerprints were taken. He laughed, bantered with the police, and talked of the time when he was an art student here.

Irwin Put Through Show-Up.

Handcuffed to Sergt. Charles Moore of the detective bureau, he was taken to the weekly criminal show-up in the bureau. There he was lined up with seven criminal suspects.

"What's your name?" Chief Sullivan asked.

"Robert Irwin," the prisoner replied.

"Where do you live?"

Irwin giggled. "O, most anywhere," he said.

"What are you here for?" Sullivan went on.

Irwin grinned as he replied: "Murder."

As no one identified him in any crime, the Chicago authorities agreed that New York might have him.

When photographers began taking pictures Irwin posed with Sherif Toman. But with an eye to the artistic, he complained that the sherif was too close to him to make a good picture. The sherif moved.

Waves to Photographers.

Then Irwin waved his hand to the photographers in disdain. Rather shrilly he protested:

"O, this is so silly."

A moment later he burst into curses and leaped from his chair, dragging Sergt. Moore with him by his handcuff.

Chief Sullivan telephoned Inspector John A. Lyons of the New York police and asked if the waiting New York policemen were authorized to take Irwin into custody.

Lyons said they were. Sullivan asked him to confirm the conversation by telegram.

The telegram that came after an unexplained delay was signed by John J. Seery, chief inspector. But it referred to Irwin as Arthur Irwin, and not Robert.

Sullivan painstakingly dictated a telegram that he would consider satisfactory, with the proper name. This he sent to New York with the request that it be sent back to him verbatim if the New York officers in his office had been sent to get Irwin.

Witness Starts Last Flight.

Irwin had been working as a bar boy in a Cleveland hotel. He had fled Cleveland when a waitress working with him had noticed his picture in a detective magazine and asked him if he were not Irwin instead of Robert Murry. He had been using the name of Murry since the murder.

When he vanished the waitress notified hotel officials, and a search was begun. Knowing that his secret was out, Irwin surrendered soon after arriving in Chicago.

Through mutual friends, Irwin said, he had become acquainted with the Gedeon family. Eventually he became a roomer in their apartment, while pursuing his sculpture, and fell in love with Ethel, Veronica's elder sister.

He was driven to fury when he learned that she had married one Joseph Kudner. Although he took up other living quarters, he retained his interest in Ethel. One evening, in a fit of depression—he had been a patient in an insane asylum previously—he decided to drown himself. On the way to the river, as he told the story, he found an ice pick.

Suddenly he decided to kill Ethel and went to the Gedeon home.

Two Men Are Wounded by Youths at Rifle Practice

Two men were wounded by amateur riflemen yesterday. One, Steve Sakowski, 45 years old, 4923 South Marshfield avenue, received a skin wound on the right side of his head when an unidentified youth, target practicing in an alley near Sakowski's home, fired at a can and missed. The other, John Gnaedinger, 29, of 4421 Washington boulevard, was bruised above the left eye in Washington boulevard, near Pulaski road, presumably by the gunfire of a youth in the neighborhood.

Priest Baptizes Trio While Firemen Fight Church Fire

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—The Rev. J. G. Carew, a curate at the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, in Queens Village, baptized two boys and a girl today at the font in the vestibule while firemen were fighting flames in a partition between the church and a chapel.

PAROLEE SHOT BY POLICEMAN DURING CHASE

Edward Sickinger.

Edward Sickinger, 29 years old, 3434 Broadway, a paroled convict, was in police custody last night as a burglar—a rôle which twice has sent him to prison since 1926.

He was shot three times and captured shortly after dawn yesterday when routed from the Buckingham pharmacy at 3324 North Halsted street. Barney Epenstein, 800 Buckingham place, saw him ransacking the store and telephoned Town Hall police. Policeman Leo Fegan wounded Sickinger in each arm and the left thigh as he tried to escape.

Police records show that Sickinger was sentenced from Springfield, Ill., on June 19, 1926, to Pontiac reformatory for one to 20 years for burglary. He evidently was paroled, because on July 6, 1929, he was sentenced to Pontiac again on a similar charge, this time from Chicago. He was paroled April 17, 1934, and his parole had not expired when he was captured yesterday.

POLICE TO GUARD BURIAL OF SLAIN UNION LEADER

A special police detail will guard the Drexel Park Presbyterian church this afternoon during funeral services for Robert Shields, slain financial secretary of local 184 of the Painters' union.

This announcement was made yesterday by Capt. William Collins of the Chicago Lawn police following advancement of a theory that the killing of Shields last Friday night near his home at 3451 West 61st street may have been a stratagem to lure Roy [Muckles] Shields, his brother, back to town. Roy, a notorious former union leader, vanished from Chicago in July, 1934, after the killing of Michael [Bubs] Quinlan, south side public enemy.

Shields, police surmise, has been wanted ever since by friends of Quinlan. If he shows up at the funeral, police protection for the mourners will be a necessary precaution, Capt. Collins explained.

Robert Shields' body will be taken from the undertaking rooms at 1648 West 63d street to the church at 11 o'clock this morning. Funeral services are expected to last nearly an hour. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

ROOSEVELT AND FIANCEE MAKE WEDDING GIFTS

Take Long Auto Ride to Escape Curious.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wilmington, Del., June 27.—[Special.]—Franklin Roosevelt Jr., third son of the President, and Ethel du Pont, his fiancée and member of the famous munitions manufacturing family, exchanged wedding gifts of jewelry today and then went for a long spin alone through the Delaware countryside.

The wedding of these two, an alliance of families at opposite poles in political thought, will be celebrated at Christ church near here on Wednesday afternoon. Like so many other details of this romance, the exact nature of the gifts was not disclosed. Miss du Pont is most emphatic about guarding this information, as well as a description of her wedding gown, a deep secret until Wednesday.

Bitterness Submerged.

As for the families, all traces of the bitterness which existed during the last campaign when the du Pont-supported Liberty league attacked the President and he thundered back at the "economic royalists" are submerged in a belated attempt to bestow happy parental blessings on the match.

The spotlight has been turned on Ethel and Franklin.

Eugene du Pont, the bride's father, laughingly refused an interview the other day "because this is the youngsters' party."

And President Roosevelt, it was learned from an unimpeachable source, has given orders that he is making his appearance here as the father of the bridegroom and not in any official capacity.

Whether it's papa or President, the secret service are carrying out elaborate precautions.

The President will arrive about noon Wednesday, his private car shunted off on a little siding a short distance from the luxurious "Owl's Nest" home of Eugene du Pont. He and Mrs. Roosevelt and others of the family will attend a luncheon, probably at the du Pont mansion, then the wedding and the reception afterward.

House High on Hill.

The drive that the young couple took in the forenoon was their only appearance outside of the du Pont estate during the day. A crowd of 65 persons had gathered [last Sunday there were 26] at tiny Christ church, built by the du Ponts in 1859, in the expectation that the nation's number one Romeo and Juliet might attend. They preferred solitude.

"Owl's Nest" is about six miles northwest of Wilmington. It is in the midst of some three score estates of the du Ponts and their kin, vast tracts of forest and broad sweeps of close clipped lawns bordered by hedges, stone walls, and trees.

The bride's home is perched on a hill studded with pine, spruce, and green shrubs. Of dark stone and with sloping tile roofs and jaunty chimneys, the house looks like a mammoth Swiss yodeler's hat thrown carelessly in the grass. The church is three miles distant. And not far from the church is the graveyard of the du Ponts, a quiet, shady spot behind a stone wall.

Some very much alive du Ponts will be conspicuously absent at the ceremony and festivities on Wednesday. Miss Amy du Pont, Ethel's aunt and an ardent Republican, sailed for Europe on June 18. Pierre S. du Pont, major figure in the munitions inquiry and tax dodging case brought by the administration against him and John J. Raskob, sailed for Paris last week. He is a cousin of the bride's father and titular head of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Victor du Pont sail for Norway and Sweden on the day of the wedding.

DU PONTS OF 60 FAMILIES NOW DWELL IN EAST

Some Unfriendly Toward Parents of Ethel.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wilmington, Del., June 27.—[Special.]—With more than sixty du Pont families in and around the state of Delaware—many of them at "dagger's drawn" with each other—the question of Ethel du Pont's place in the dynasty becomes of paramount importance.

Ethel is the eldest daughter of Eugene du Pont of Owl's Nest, a few miles from here. Slender, blonde, with blue eyes and honey colored hair, she and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., 22 year old son of President Roosevelt, will be married at sunset Wednesday in Christ Episcopal church at Christiana which the du Ponts built in 1856.

That she is heiress to a large portion of the du Pont millions is well known, but the many ramifications of her clannish family have created much confusion in the mind of the lay public as to exactly who she is.

Some Family Complications.

That there are innumerable elements of confusion even the most loyal du Pont cannot deny. There are consanguine marriages, where du Pont has married du Pont. There are sudden shiftings of power. There are family feuds. There are even two senior Eugene du Ponts, that Eugene who is Ethel's father whom the people of Wilmington still call by a childhood nickname—"Dirty Gene," and Eugene E., his first cousin.

One point of confusion is easily straightened. Eugene du Pont is one of the few of his name who steered clear of the bitter du Pont vs. du Pont feud back in 1912. Consequently, he speaks to all his cousins, regardless of which side of the Brandywine they inhabit. For that reason, too, attendance at his daughter's wedding may be excellent.

Eugene du Pont is not considered a power in the present reigning branch of the dynasty. He is a member of the board of directors of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, of which his father, Eugene, was president from 1899 until his death in 1902, but he is fairly inactive in the affairs of the company.

Likes Big Game Hunting.

For a few years after his father's death he worked for the company, but left in 1912 before the family schism. Quiet, dark, retiring, careless in attire, he likes to hunt big game and usually needs a haircut.

He and his wife, the former Ethel Pyle, have four children—Eugene III., Ethel, who is 21; Nicholas, and Aimee, who will be her sister's maid of honor.

But what of Pierre, Lammot, and Irenée, the three brothers who now rule the affairs of du Pont?

They are Eugene du Pont's second cousins. Their children and Ethel du Pont are third cousins.

Pierre, 67 years old and childless patriarch of the du Pont clan, is chairman of the board of the du Pont company. He lives across the Pennsylvania line at Longwood, his baronial estate. Lammot, president of the company, has had four wives; he has five daughters and four sons. Irenée is 60, vice president of the company, has six daughters and lives at Granogue.

The rest of the family is cloven neatly into two groups—those who like Pierre, Lammot, and Irenée and those who don't like them. More distinctly it is whether or not they like Pierre and whether or not they supported him back in 1912.

Henry to Head Company.

Henry Belin du Pont is the oldest male member of the younger generation of the ruling branch of the family. He is a nephew of the "three brothers," and is expected to be the next head of du Pont. Another nephew, Hallock, raises dogs.

Aside from the three du Pont brothers the only other du Pont holding an important post in the company's affairs is A. Felix. He has four brothers—Francis I., Ernest, Eleuthere P., and Archibald, who have a total of nineteen children. Felix—first cousin to Eugene du Pont—is "in" with Pierre. His four brothers are "out," and have been since 1912.

Eugene E. du Pont, another first cousin, took no part whatsoever in the 1912 feud. He, like Ethel's father, takes no active part in affairs of the company, but is still a director. He alone holds 71,124 shares of du Pont common stock, with a market value [in January, 1935] of $6,900,000. He has a 2,500 acre estate at Rock Hall, Md. He has four daughters.

DISCORD CLOSES HARMONY PICNIC FOR DEMOCRATS

Wheeler Tells Roosevelt Court Bill Is Dead.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Annapolis, Md., June 27.—[Special.]—All the sweetness and good will and understanding carefully built up during the first two days of the celebrated Democratic powwow on Jefferson Island in Chesapeake bay was dissipated today when Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] faced President Roosevelt under a mulberry tree and declared courteously but firmly:

Senator B. K. Wheeler.

"A compromise on your court packing bill might have a chance in the senate. But we are prepared to talk all summer, if necessary, to defeat it."

Calls Plan Wrong and Futile.

Senator Wheeler's admission that a compromise on the court plan might gain a majority in the senate was a concession to the success of a heavy pressure campaign put on recently by White House representatives. His threat to filibuster against such a compromise with the aid of many Democratic senators known for their wordy abilities dampened the hopes of leaders for an early adjournment.

Senator Wheeler had come from Atlantic City, where he addressed a bar association, asserting that it was "just as wrong, futile, and needless to pack the Supreme court with only five, four, three, two, or even one justice as with six." He gave the President a statement much to the same effect, although phrased in less stinging terms.

Thus, the widely advertised "harmony" gathering ended in a dissonant crash. Mr. Roosevelt cruised back to Washington tonight on his yacht with memories of an enjoyable three day holiday, but sadly conscious that he was on no better terms with an uneasy congress than before.

Senate majority leader Joseph T. Robinson landed from the island tonight in a decidedly grumpy mood.

"The court bill will not be brought up in the senate until after the July Fourth holiday," he said.

Adjournment Far in Offing.

"Adjournment is far in the offing," was Robinson's additional contribution.

House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn said he clung to his prediction that Congress could not quit before Sept. 1.

The President received little consolation from Senator Henry F. Ashhurst [D., Ariz.], chairman of the senate judiciary committee, his most loyal follower on the court program.

The loquacious Ashurst first muttered something about being the victim of a "shotgun wedding" when questioned by reporters at the dock about the court proposal. He hastily added his usual eloquent statement that victory for the plan was assured.

The third delegation of more than 100 Democrats to visit the President on his island retreat went through much the same program as the first two groups who went out on Friday and Saturday. Senators and representatives were ushered up to the President on his seat beneath the tree and were accorded a few minutes each in which to exchange courtesies.

SLAYER'S VICTIM

[Acme Photo.]

Mary Mathes, 20, of Cleveland, O., who was slashed to death by suitor after she broke off their love affair.

Cleveland, O., June 27.—[Special.]—Sprawled in a police station chair, Thomas Schneller Jr., jilted suitor, confessed the knife killing of his former sweetheart, Mary Mathes, in the kitchen of her home Friday, according to Detective Sergeant James C. Hogan.

Thos. Schneller Jr.

Schneller told the details of his tragic affair with Miss Mathes, a pretty brunette, a few hours after he was captured in a chase by a deputy sheriff near Girard, O., in the Youngstown steel strike zone.

The confessed slayer, who is 23 years old, was caught after he had crashed a highway barricade near Niles, O., erected to stop all automobiles entering the strike area so that they could be searched for arms.

Hogan said Schneller would be charged with murder today or Monday. In his statement Schneller said he had become jealous because Miss Mathes had been going out with other men after rejecting him as a suitor several months ago.

KNOWS WAYS OF 'PANTS BANDIT'; HELPS HIM OUT

Harry Chavis recognized the voice that commanded him to face the wall yesterday in his shoe store at 1648 Roosevelt road. He felt a gun in his ribs. A hand removed $3 from his pocket. When he heard the cash register open, he knew the $18 in it was being taken.

Chavis shook his head in resignation and removed his trousers, without waiting for further orders.

"I recognized the technique," he told the police later. "It was the same pants bandit who robbed me three months ago, and I knew he wanted me to take off my pants so I couldn't follow him. This time my watch fell out of my pocket as I took them off and the robber grabbed it. Last time he missed the watch."

ANGELL TO TAKE POST WITH NBC ON LEAVING YALE

New Haven, Conn., June 27.—[Special.]—Dr. James Rowland Angell, retiring president of Yale university, will become educational counselor of the National Broadcasting company in September, it was announced in a statement here today.

He accepted the appointment, the statement said, at the urgent invitation of the company. When asked to comment on the announcement Dr. Angell said:

"I am accepting the invitation with great enthusiasm and in the hope that the opportunity given me will allow me to render a real public service. The educational opportunities of radio are but just beginning to be fully appreciated, and I trust I can make some small contribution to increasing its significance for young and old alike."

ARKANSAS BOY, 15, TOTES BIG PISTOL IN ROBBERY WORK

Trafic Policeman Lawrence P. Regan walked into the washroom of the La Salle theater, 110 West Madison street, last night, and noticed three young men huddling in a corner.

"What's going on?" he asked suspiciously. One of the trio replied they were exchanging hats, whereupon Regan ordered them to leave. The spokesman smiled and walked out whistling. "You get, too," Regan ordered Louis Stefchek, 2616 Prairie avenue, one of the two remaining.

But Stefchek didn't move. He stuttered, "These fellows just held me up!" With one man whistling his way out and gone, Policeman Regan drew his gun and held his companion. In his pockets Regan found a .45 caliber pistol and a blackjack. He identified himself as Carson Barry, 15 years old, and said he came from West Helena, Ark., three days ago. He didn't know the youth who escaped, but said he took the loot from Stefchek—a watch and $3.50.

BEAUTY IN THE AIR!

AN IDEA AS THOROUGHLY MODERN AS UNITED AIRLINES' NEW MAINLINER

OUR FAMOUS REMLE VITAMIN F PERMANENT under the supervision of Dermott of London was given to Miss Carlotta Lagorio, popular Chicago debutante, on her 715 mile flight from New York.

This permanent has been acclaimed by hundreds of Chicago women because it actually reconditions your hair.

On this same flight Miss Lagorio also enjoyed a Vitamin F Baby Skin Oil Facial and Navita manicure.

Just as United Airlines' Mainliner is the "tops" in transportation, so Stevens Powder Box is the "tops" in beauty service. Make your appointment with us. Phone Ran. 1500.

SUNKEN STREAM GIVES UP AND FLOODS A TOWN

Natural Sewer Reverses in Bellevue, Ohio.

Bellevue, O., June 27.—[Special.]—The sunken river that for years has served Bellevue as a ready made sewage outlet has turned into a scourge as the result of heavy rains that have flooded the countryside for a week.

Bellevue is built from 20 to 50 feet above the level of an underground stream that, for want of a better name, has been known colloquially as the "Bellevue underground river." It empties into Sandusky bay, an arm of Lake Erie.

Nature's Bounty Grand.

Even in the days before indoor plumbing, and by some folk since, it was considered a godsend. You could dig almost anywhere in town to bedrock, where its natural slope would carry the drainage into the sunken stream. When some areas of the town were joined by a common sewage system it too was run into the underground river. It saved a good deal of money.

Last Friday, early in the morning, it started to rain. It poured for eight hours. The sunken stream, already swollen by several days' fall of water over the area it drains, couldn't take it. The pressure forced the water back up the sewers, back up the sinkholes, and through the crypts the citizens not on the sewer system had dug.

Area Becomes a Lake.

The area around Bellevue, which hasn't even a stream of mappable proportions on the surface, became a lake. About half the residents in the south and east ends of the town have been forced out of their homes. Water rose to the second floors. Three factories closed. There have been several drownings reported.

The business area of the town is protected to some extent by railroad embankments of the Nickel Plate, Wheeling and Lake Erie, New York Central, and Pennsylvania railroads. These have become temporary dikes, and, as embankments not built to withstand water, have taken numerous lickings from the flood. Washouts have been repeated. Last night it looked as if the whole town would be inundated. But the citizenry, with the aid of the railroads and two companies of National Guard troops, saved the dikes and today it appears they may hold.

But the residents have lost a lot of their faith in the sweetness of nature's bounty.

AT THE JAMBOREE

(Story in adjoining column.)

Boy Scouts arriving in Washington, D. C., for the national Scout jamboree pack straw into sleeping bags at camp grounds.

11,000 ASSEMBLE IN CAPITAL FOR SCOUT JAMBOREE

25,000 to Start High Jinx Wednesday.

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—When heads were counted tonight in the twenty-one tented mess halls of the Boy Scouts' city that has arisen on the shores of the Potomac, it was revealed that 11,945 Scouts, from all parts of the United States, had arrived for their jamboree, scheduled to start on Wednesday.

All day long special trains puffed into the union station or onto sidings on the Virginia side of the river and the khaki clad youngsters, backs bowed under their packs, filed onto the camp grounds and with military precision erected their sleeping tents and settled themselves for a two weeks visit.

Expect 14,000 in Two Days.

Tomorrow 3,000 more will arrive and on Tuesday sixty-seven special trains will fetch 11,000 more. The largest single delegation reaching camp today were 418 from New York City.

Accustomed to making and breaking camp quickly the Scouts already here made themselves at home immediately. They strolled about the city in pairs and small crowds, some attending ball games, others making informal visits to Arlington and others started out at once for souvenir hunts.

From Philippines and N. Zealand.

The record for fast traveling so far is held by a lone Scout from the Philippines. He stepped aboard the China Clipper at Cavite seven days ago and arrived in New York this morning. The distance record is claimed by two lads from New Zealand, who brought a sack full of Maori carvings which they hope to swap for items to take home.

A troop of twenty-four from the Bahamas were in today's contingent and on Tuesday the largest foreign contingent will arrive, coming from England.

MOVIE CELEBRITIES ARE MADE ILL BY VEGETABLE SPRAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., June 27.—[Special.]—Barbara Stanwyck, Jean Parker, and Margaret Lindsay are among Hollywood celebrities reported suffering today from stomach poisoning believed caused by the carelessly used vegetable spray of local truck gardeners. None of the stars is seriously ill.

A mild epidemic for several weeks has inflicted a form of intestinal disorders on victims here. Investigations have been started by the local health officers and by the state department of agriculture. Vegetable growers are allowed to use a pest killing mixture containing arsenic trioxide and lead.

MOTORIZED ARMY OPENS DU PAGE MOSQUITO WAR

Ponderous trucks, boats, motorcycles, and spraying equipment were propelled into the swampy district south of Villa Park in Du Page county yesterday to wage war on the microscopic mosquito. J. Lyell Clarke, sanitary engineer for the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district, led the expedition to prove to Du Page county officials, he said, the necessity of a tri-county campaign to eradicate the pests.

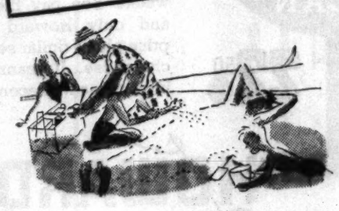
Field's stores close at 1 o'clock on Saturdays during July and August



In the Evanston Shoe Section there's a man who takes his family to the beach every Saturday afternoon in July and August—because this store is closed.

Down in the Notions there's a starry eyed young thing who can join her young man in this funny little car for an afternoon in the country.

A widow in Women's Coats will have a trip with her youngsters to the zoo. She'll laugh with them at the baby panda and forget that the new alpacas have anything to do with clothes! And in-between the animals she'll catch all the little intimate secrets that a working mother must miss, during the week.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS OFF!

This is only typical of what a difference it makes in the lives of our thousands of employes—because, year after year, we decide that during these two Summer months Marshall Field's Chicago and suburban stores will close on Saturday at one. Saturday—when the rest of the city plays. Saturday—which, linked to Sunday, makes a glorious weekend.

We believe this precious half holiday is coming to our people. We believe that they'll be happier, healthier, better at their work because they have it.

We have an idea you believe so, too. Many of you have given us your approval in the past. Now, once again, we're telling you how we see it, asking that you cooperate by planning your Saturday shopping for the cool morning hours, from half past nine to one. Then you'll have Saturday afternoon off, too!

Vandenberg to Offer Fair Practice Code for Labor.

Would Require Written Contracts.

The second amendment would require the agreement resulting voluntarily from collective bargaining to be set down in writing.

It would require, however, that strikes be called only by a majority vote of all employés and it would provide that any breach of contract, if not corrected upon order of the national labor relations board, should suspend the right of representation and should subject the offender to whatever penalty the board might direct in respect to the exercise of further rights under the Wagner act.

Fair Practice Proposals.

The third amendment would parallel the fair practice code for employers in the existing law with a fair practice code for labor, including the following:

1. Prohibition of compulsory political assessments upon union members.

2. Requirement that all officers, agents, and representatives of unions be citizens of the United States.

3. Prohibition of any action "to force any worker to join any labor organization by means of threats, intimidation, coercion, or physical violence," or "to injure, damage, or destroy the property of any person or to violate any person's right in real or personal property," or "to strike for the purpose of coercing or forcing any person to violate any contract or the laws of any state or of the United States."

"The purpose of these proposed amendments," said Senator Vandenberg, "is to broaden the Wagner act and to invite an immediate study of the expanded formula under which legalized collective bargaining may hope to produce more effective industrial peace and prosperity for labor and every one else.

"I believe it is only in some such fashion that a legitimate labor organization can protect itself against excesses from within and reprisals from without.

"There are four parties to a collective bargaining dispute under the Wagner act: The majority employés, the minority employés, the employer, and the public. The Wagner act ably defends the first. It seems to me that it must now acknowledge the rights of the other three.

Moderation Forestalls Radicalism.

"I make no claim that this is a final answer to some of the difficulties that have arisen—difficulties which responsible labor leaders are eager to join in helping to correct. I may have gone too far in some directions; not far enough in others.

"But I am convinced that the best welfare of labor itself requires a conclusive study of this whole related problem. Moderate protections now may prevent radical restraints later.

"I believe that labor is entitled to a constantly broadening share in the fruits of its own production, but it will do labor no good to achieve these benefits if a profitable economy and an orderly society in which to enjoy them is jeopardized or destroyed.

"In the final analysis the public interest is paramount. There can be but one sovereignty—sovereignty of government—in this country."

WHERE JOBS AWAIT

ONTARIO PREMIER SEES ROOSEVELT VICTIM OF LEWIS

ORILLIA, Ont., June 27.—[Special.]—A declaration that the Ontario government would stop agitators of the Committee for Industrial Organization "at the Detroit river" and a charge that President Roosevelt had been favorably influenced toward the C. I. O. because John L. Lewis had contributed $500,000 to his presidential campaign were made here tonight by Premier Mitchell Hepburn. In an address to a convention of the Twentieth Century Liberal association he denounced what he described as the "record" of Lewis.

On the morning of June 22, 1922, he said, about fifty members of the steam shovel men's union, which was at odds with the United Mine Workers, headed by Lewis, were brought out of a strip mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company under a flag of truce with a promise of safe conduct to their homes. Lined up against a barbed wire fence, he said, they were fired upon by 500 union miners and about nineteen were killed and twenty wounded.

Calls It "Atrocious Massacre."

"The victims had broken no law, but they had committed the unpardonable crime of refusing allegiance and tribute to Lewis and his gang," the premier went on. "It was one of the most atrocious massacres in the United States' history."

"Inspired as it was by mob rule, it was roundly condemned by a man well known to every one of us here," the premier said as he read a statement issued at the time by President Roosevelt, who had recently left the post of assistant secretary of the navy. "That was what he thought of Lewis at that time. But at that time Lewis had not poured half a million dollars into the campaign funds. Well, I can say that Lewis hasn't paid a cent into our campaign funds here, and so we are in the clear and we can stop these people at the Detroit river and will do so."

Points to Slush Fund.

Asserting that Lewis was reported to collect $36,000,000 a year in dues, the premier added: "Is it no wonder that he can corrupt governments with a slush fund of that size?"

Lewis' sole concern, Hepburn said, was to extract money from the pay envelopes of the workmen both in Canada and in the United States.

tending the meeting to continue picketing through the day. He warned that if the mills are reopened the C. I. O. union would withdraw its men who have stayed on the job by agreement to supply gas for East Chicago homes.

"We say the plants are not going to reopen until a contract is signed," Rusak said.

Nocholas Fontecchio, field director of the S. W. O. C., also was defiant.

"We are instructing our pickets to be peaceful," he said. "If there is any violence, the responsibility will rest squarely at the door of Mayor Rooney, his city administration and the steel companies."

With the steel strike crumbling, the regional labor relations board this morning will hear S. W. O. C. charges that the Inland company, by refusing to sign a contract with the C. I. O. union, violated the Wagner labor relations act. The hearing, to be held in the United States courthouse in Chicago, will be conducted by Charles A. Wood, trial examiner for the national labor board. The hearing is expected to last more than a week.

...and mighty strenuous too!

"SPORT, even for the fun of it, can be tense and tiring," says Miss Gloria Wheeden, charming co-ed who here shows her skill at aquaplaning. "Yes, I smoke," she says. "When I feel a bit let-down, I light up a Camel and get an invigorating 'lift' in energy." When an active day drains physical and nervous energy, you can get a delightful "lift" from a Camel. And Camels never get on your nerves.

1 SPEED IT UP! 20 miles an hour on a skittery board is thrill enough! But Gloria Wheeden is a daring miss who hikes it up to 40 (above)—then (below) up to 50.

2 HOLD ON! Slewing around a fast turn with two aboard (right). As Miss Wheeden says: "It does take a nice sense of balance and a good bit of nerve too. As a test of skill, I think I put aquaplaning above any other sport I've tried."

3 S-T-E-A-D-Y. This picture of Miss Wheeden executing a hand-stand speaks for itself. There's no doubt about her nerves being healthy. "Camels are head and shoulders on top for mildness," she says. "They don't bother my nerves a bit."

4 AND NOW FOR A PICNIC LUNCH. "I always think of smoking Camels and eating as going together," adds Miss Wheeden, on the motor boat. "I smoke Camels—and enjoy the sense of well-being that good digestion brings me."

MISS JOAN BELMONT of New York is an enthusiastic sportswoman. Like so many of her friends, she is a steady Camel smoker. "When I feel tired or a bit let-down," comments Miss Belmont, "Camels are sure to give me a grand 'lift'...my energy snaps back."

"MANY A TIME I've smoked a Camel to get a 'lift' in energy," says Harry Burmester, printer, shown working at the high-speed, four-color press. "Camels have the goodness you'd expect from costlier tobaccos. Camel's mildness suits me to perfection."

ONLY 1,500 AT 'RALLY' OF C. I. O. AT JOHNSTOWN

6,500 Men Back on Job in Steel Mill.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Johnstown, Pa., June 27.—[Special.]—The sagging strike at the 50 million dollar Cambria plant of the Bethlehem Steel corporation collapsed here tonight when a majority of the plant's employés poured through the gates to resume their jobs.

As 6,500 workers returned to work strike leaders pleaded with C. I. O. members to stay out on strike, "even if you starve to death; it's worth the fight." Speakers attempted to whip up enthusiasm at a massmeeting in Faith Grove, three miles north of the mills.

The attendance at the rally demonstrated that the people of Johnstown are not in sympathy with the strike. Where leaders had boasted that 30,000 miners alone would come into the city for the rally to join thousands of striking workers, only 1,500 were gathered at the grove.

Wear Miners' Buttons.

Among the 1,500 were many women and children. Most of the men wore the button of the United Mine Workers of America rather than the button of the steel workers' organizing committee.

From the speakers' stand the orators could look down on the activity in the reopened mills. As smoke darkened the sky at the backs of those who attended the meeting, John Ghizzoni, member of the international board of the miners' union, declared:

"I tell you the mills are badly crippled. Those few who went to work can't run them. The company can't hold out."

Majority Back in Plant.

Officials of the plant reported a majority of its workers had returned during the day when the gate count passed the 6,000 mark. Although the rolls carry 15,000 names only 12,000 men are at work during normal operation.

Officials said the total will mount during the week. The plant was reopened yesterday, at the end of the third week of the strike, by a spontaneous appearance of 5,000 men at the mills gates to report for work. They came the day after martial law, declared by Gov. George H. Earle, was lifted at 7 a. m. Friday morning.

Two more open hearth furnaces were put in operation during the day, bringing the total to 14. During normal production 16 of the 21 blast furnaces of the plant operate.

MAKES A MILLION

[Associated Press Photo.]

Mrs. Nadejda Krupskaya, Lenin's widow, whose acquisition of wealth has posed an embarrassing problem for the soviet government.

WIDOW OF LENIN EARNS A MILLION; RUSSIA BLUSHES

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, June 27.—The discovery that Mrs. Nadejda Krupskaya—widow of Nicolai Lenin—has become a millionaire since the death of her husband has provided the Moscow Kremlin with a most embarrassing problem. Her fortune largely has been amassed through literary work, although her income from a number of high positions in the soviet government makes her one of the highest salaried state employés.

Living frugally in her Kremlin apartment, Lenin's widow is the largest individual subscriber in Russia to internal loans. Her account at the Moscow state bank also is reported to run into six figures.

Police Detain Secretaries.

The GPU [secret police] is attempting to discover the source of the report that the woman is a millionaire. The police have detained and questioned her secretaries as well as some of her associates in organizations to promote the welfare of children and students, in whose activities she has taken a leading part since the revolution.

The development of a group of millionaires in Russia under the communist régime has been the subject of discussion by residents of Moscow for some months. The newspaper Izvestia has urged the government to take action to prevent such a large accumulation of wealth because of its demoralizing effect upon members of the communist party and other residents.

Izvestia revealed that Russia's new wealthy class is composed chiefly of authors. Some have obtained royalties amounting to 130,000 rubles [nominally $30,000] a year from Gosizdat—the state publishing trust.

Writers Stop Writing.

The millionaires came into the public eye because many of Russia's most popular writers have stopped writing since Dictator Josef Stalin inaugurated his reign of terror in January.

Izvestia commented bitterly that writers have become frightened because some of their number such as Nikolai Bukharin, Gregory Zinoviev, Leo Kamenev, Karl Radek, and Gregory Sokolnikov either have been shot or imprisoned because their theories disagreed with those of Stalin.

Although Russia has a rigidly enforced income tax which provides the state with a half billion rubles [$100,000,000] revenue, the incomes of the largest taxpayers are not published.

BELIEVE RUSSIA JAILED AIR CHIEF AND ARCTIC FLYER

MOSCOW, June 27.—(AP)—The unexplained absence of two prominent Russians from an official welcoming party for Dr. Otto Schmidt, who returned last Friday from the Russian north pole air base, led to reports today they had been arrested.

The missing persons are Gen. Y. I. Alksnis, vice commissar of defense, and chief of Red army air forces, and Sigmund Levanevsky, Arctic flyer. Foreigners speculated that their absence indicated the current wave of arrests within the army and elsewhere is continuing.

Alksnis served in the defense commissary with the late Vice Commissar Tuckachevsky, who with seven generals of the army was executed on charges of treason.

CHICAGO BOUND TRAIN DERAILED; NINE ARE INJURED

Nine passengers, seven of them Chicagoans, were injured last night when five cars of the crack Chicago and North Western railroad train, the Flambeau, were derailed 3 miles south of New London, Wis.

Approximately 150 other passengers on the train were badly jolted. There would perhaps have been more injured, it was said, had not many of the passengers from the cars that left the track been in the dining car ahead. It was believed that the derailment was caused by the breaking of a rail after part of the train had passed over.

One of the Chicagoans injured was reported in a critical condition in the hospital at New London. He was S. R. Albert, whose address could not be learned. Other Chicagoans injured were Edward M. Landis of 1640 Greenleaf avenue, Marie Collm of 713 Kenesaw terrace, J. S. Carlson of 1446 Kinzie street, Dr. Phil J. Stein of 7300 South Shore drive, Donald Talbot, and Andrew Armstrong, colored.

Milwaukee residents injured were M. C. Molsee of 839 North Marshall street and Walter Mitske of 2900 11th street.

Most of the injured were given hospital treatment at New London, which is 15 miles northwest of Appleton.

Mrs. Ginger Jones, 66 years old, 3050 Warren avenue, who was freed on a disorderly conduct charge Saturday, took poison at her home yesterday. She was reported recovering at County hospital.

Old Shell Game Takes Its Toll at Italians' Picnic

The old shell game—with few winners—had a good play last night at the Italo-American society's annual picnic in Berwyn until Lieut. Robert Soldat appeared. He arrested the two operators, Charles G. Adams, 34 years old, of McRoberts, Ky., and Frank Self, 45, of Louisville, Ky., and twelve shills, or baiters. The twelve played the game and won, encouraging the unsuspecting to try their luck, which proved bad, police said. All will be arraigned before Magistrate Frank J. Pavlik in Berwyn today.

INJURED AS BAT SLIPS.

Gerardo Criscuil, 50 years old, 5168 South Kildare avenue, a laborer, was injured seriously yesterday when he was struck on the head by a ball bat which slipped from the hands of a player at West Fifty-second street and South Keeler avenue.

SUMMER SHEERS
$15

Sizes 12 to 20, 26 to 44, 16½ to 24½

We combed the entire market for the best sheer dresses we could find at this price. It wasn't an easy task, because we are very particular about sheers. Because of their transparency the slips must be well made, the dresses carefully seamed and stitched and the styles charmingly suited to their fabrics, varied and irresistible. We believe we've assembled the cream of the crop. Shopping will prove that this is an event worth bragging about. But the dresses can speak for themselves!

INSPIRING COUNCIL

Field Manufacturing No. 9

By CALEB

"WHEN I first went to work for the company back in 1919 . . . in an isolated department of one of the plants, I had little opportunity to make contacts with the men higher up in the organization. There was little I could learn about the business outside the department in which I was working. . . . Situated as I was, I had no opportunity to learn anything from the outstanding leaders in industry or elsewhere.

". . . The Council has given me the opportunity to meet the leaders and executives of our company. At Council meetings I have had the opportunity to sit at the feet of some of the best teachers and lecturers in the country. The lectures and associations have been both educational and inspiring. My Council experience has helped me to get a broader understanding of industry and life in general.

"It has also helped me break down a barrier of self consciousness and to build up a feeling of real confidence in myself. In other words, the Council has given me an opportunity to develop myself. . . ."

These are the words of a man who in 1920 became a charter member of the Carolina Co-operative Council—an organization of Marshall Field and Company key men in our Virginia and Carolina mills.

How the Council was formed is notable. In 1920, 180 key mill men met to enjoy a banquet upon concluding a three months' business training course consisting of study and lectures.

A motion was made that a permanent organization be formed. On October 5, 1920, a constitution and by-laws were adopted, and first officers were elected.

The Council of some five hundred men is run by its members without direction from the management. The man who was selected from among the members to be secretary the first year continued in that capacity until about 1935 when he became general manager of the mills. Ever since 1920 the Council has consistently held its regular meetings. The roster of speakers who have traveled to North Carolina to address the group of five hundred members is an imposing one.

We are proud of the spirit of our organization which has prompted its members to initiate and to perpetuate a Co-operative Council of this type for their own.

PEACE TREATY 18 YEARS OLD TODAY AND IN TATTERS

Pact Almost Ruined by Hitler's Ax.

A Scrap of Paper

1. League of Nations—still alive.
2. Punishment of the kaiser—never enforced.
3. Territory, colonies—1,303,879 square miles of former German territory with 17,000,000 population, still separated from the fatherland.
4. Disarmament—dead.
5. Economic provisions—mostly fulfilled.
6. Enforcing guarantees—all lapsed or abandoned.
7. Reparations—payments stopped in 1931.

PARIS, June 27.—(AP)—The treaty of Versailles, 18 years old tomorrow has been almost completely destroyed by Adolf Hitler's ax.

Adolf Hitler [top] and former Kaiser Wilhelm.

The continued separation of 1,303,879 square miles of territory in Europe, Africa, Asia and the Pacific islands and about 17,000,000 persons from the fatherland today constituted almost the only tangible evidence the pact was still in effect.

Eighteen years of steady German hacking have left only the territorial and colonial clauses intact.

The Nazi dictator cut away most of the rest without war; but Frenchmen declare he will have to fight to make the maps over.

Control German Colonies.

In Europe there remain 27,252 square miles of former German territories, peopled by nearly 6,500,000 persons who would have been Germans but for the war, under sovereignty of other powers.

Germany's prewar overseas empire, 1,276,627 square miles with a population of about 10,500,000, still is controled by the war victors.

In Europe France has Alsace-Lorraine. Belgium has Eupen and Malmedy. Czechoslovakia has part of upper Silesia. Lithuania has Memel. Poland has her corridor to the sea. Denmark has northern Schleswig. The Free City of Danzig nominally is under the league of nations, although practically it is under Nazi control.

Japan Holds Islands.

In Africa Tanganyika, Southwest Africa, Cameroon and Togoland are ruled by the British empire and France. New Guinea, Western Samoa, Nauru Island and the Solomon Islands are British mandates. Japan has a firm hold on the Marshall and Caroline Islands in the equatorial Pacific.

All the treaty limitations upon Germany within her own frontiers are gone. Reichsfuehrer Hitler swept away the last Jan. 30 when he abolished the right of the former allies to inspect books of the German State railways and the Reichsbank.

Military clauses, successively scrapped, inspired Hitler to some of his most dramatic strokes.

He reconstituted the German air force, then a conscript army, and finally negotiated a naval treaty with Great Britain.

Germany remilitarized the Rhineland, a step that caused Europe to teeter on the edge of war, and thus regained full military sovereignty.

Article 227 called for a trial of former Kaiser Wilhelm by five judges appointed by the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan. The Netherlands, where the ex-kaiser took refuge, refused to extradite him.

The league of nations, created in the treaty's preamble, still lives, but Germany is not a member.

Twice reparations payments were scaled down when Germany pleaded she could not meet the levies. In 1931 President Hoover declared a war debt moratorium, and since then no payments have been made.

AID TO SWIMMERS

[Acme Photo.]

A life guard at Rockaway beach, New York City, wears a nose clip designed to keep out the water.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—Persons who stay out of water because of sinus and ear trouble will welcome a new device introduced for bathers at Rockaway beach. Simple enough, it is nothing more than a nose clip which keeps the nostrils closed and is fastened by cords over the ears. It has been added to the equipment of life guards and will be available for swimmers. It keeps water out of the nose spaces, thus eliminating infections of the sinuses and ears.

FIND SLAIN MAN IN AUTO; POLICE CALL IT MYSTERY

Police stumbled across a mystery late last night when they found the body of a well dressed man in an automobile in Jergenson section No. 2 of the Thornton forest preserves east of Homewood. Cards indicated that the victim was Frederic W. Place, 36 years old, of the Kimbark Shore apartment hotel, 5123 Kimbark avenue, connected with a loop circularizing agency.

The man apparently had been shot. Traces of blood were found. A revolver, clasped in both hands, lay on his lap. It contained one discharged and four whole cartridges. Yet an examination of the body failed to disclose a bullet wound. Moreover, the gun did not appear to have been fired recently in spite of the one empty cartridge. Also the keys to the car were missing and the ignition locked.

The body was discovered by Preserve Policeman John Costabile and Larry McGuinn. The car was driven into the forest preserves about 8 a. m. The car, police understand, contained two persons, the man now dead and another man or a woman. Police could learn little about Place. They understood he lived alone, but was married and had a small daughter.

U-BOAT PASTOR SCOLDS NAZIS FOR JAILING CLERGY

Calls Hitlerite Stand on Church "Immoral."

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 27.—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, militant leader of the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] church which is fighting for freedom of creed, openly defied Nazi authorities today when he preached to crowded congregations at two morning services at Jesus Christ church in Dahlem, fashionable suburb of Berlin.

Undaunted by arrests of Confessional pastors in recent weeks, the wartime submarine commander branded the state's attitude toward the church as "immoral and unethical."

Defies Nazi Decree.

In defiance of the ministry of interior's decree, Niemoeller proceeded to read the names of persons who had seceded from the church. He added that no resignation had occurred in his parish in the last week.

The clergyman took as the text for his sermon from the Acts of the Apostles, chapter 5, verses 34 to 42 [Gamaliel's warning that "if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it"].

"I wish there were a man as clever and upright as Gamaliel who today would declare, 'it is immoral and unethical to use force in an attempt to overcome conviction,'" the pastor cried.

After denouncing as misleading the officially inspired press which hitherto has admitted only four arrests of Confessional pastors, Niemoeller said he now is the only member of the Prussian Council of Brethren who has not been arrested. He added that eight members of this body were taken into custody last week while eight women church workers were arrested at Saarbruecken last Friday.

Niemoeller thereupon read the names of 65 arrested members of the Confessional movement. Of that number seventeen were later released, he explained.

A number of Confessional pastors will be tried in summary court in Berlin Wednesday for violating the decree forbidding the reading of names of persons who have resigned from the church.

The defendants include the Rev. Friedrich Mueller of Dahlem, chairman of the provisional administration of the Confessional church; the Rev. Gerhard Jacobi, and E. F. von Rabernau. It is understood the pastors will plead that the decree exceeds the competence of the ministry of the interior, such readings being an old tradition of the German church.

Bavaria to Withdraw Aid.

BERLIN, June 27.—(AP)—The Nazi régime announced today that within three years the Bavarian state will withdraw all voluntary financial contributions to the church, Protestant and Catholic alike.

"The churches have only themselves to blame if the state no longer contributes to their upkeep," declared Adolf Wagner, Bavarian minister of the interior, who made the announcement at the little Bavarian town of Fuerstenfeldbruck. "They have had four years to fall into stride with the rest of us."

Nazi authorities said the Bavarian contributions totaled 140,000,000 marks [$56,000,000] during the four years of Nazi power. They will be cut by 5,000,000 marks from time to time until in 1940 they cease altogether, Wagner said.

The minister drew applause from his Nazi audience when he told of high salaries received by church leaders in Germany. He asserted Cardinal Michael Faulhaber received 29,000 marks [$11,600] a year.

MISS EARHART LANDS IN AUSTRALIA AFTER HOP ACROSS TIMOR SEA

Black line, Saturday flight. Dotted line, Sunday flight.

SYDNEY, Australia, June 28.—[Monday.] — (AP) — Amelia Earhart landed her round the world plane at Port Darwin at 10:03 a. m. today [9:03 p. m. Sunday, Chicago daylight saving time] after a 500-mile hop from Koepang, Timor, in the Dutch East Indies.

The hop required three hours thirty-three minutes. She had taken off from Koepang for the flight across the Timor sea at 6:30 a. m. [5:30 p. m. Sunday, Chicago time].

With her navigator, Capt. Fred Noonan, she had flown yesterday to Koepang after a 1,200 mile flight from Bandoeng, Java.

4 Killed as British Train Strikes Dead-End Siding

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and 12 injured late tonight when a Southern railway train crashed into a dead end siding at Swanley Junction, Kent.

Baldness is Not Inherited

SCIENTISTS who study the laws of inheritance have found that "acquired characteristics" are not inherited. Baldness is in all cases acquired many years after birth and it is therefore agreed that it is not inherited.

Thomas case histories further prove that many men who are bald have fathers and grandfathers with good heads of hair. It is also found that many men keep good heads of hair throughout life even though their fathers were bald at early ages.

Eighty-five percent of all cases of baldness can be traced to neglect or to one or more of 14 local scalp disorders. Thomas treatment overcomes all of these local scalp conditions—ends dandruff, stops falling hair and re-grows hair on the thin and bald spots. Come in today and receive the benefit of sound advice from a Thomas expert. No charge is made for consultation nor for scalp examination. (Always in private).

BERLIN WILL ACT ALONE ON SPAIN, HITLER DECLARES

WUERZBURG, Germany, June 27.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler proclaimed today that Germany henceforth prefers independent action to protect herself from incidents off the Spanish coast.

The European nonintervention committee, he told a party rally of 200,000 Nazis, demonstrated its ineffectiveness by failing to act after the cruiser Leipzig allegedly was attacked by a Spanish government submarine. [Valencia denied the attack.]

"Every cat can burn its paws once," he told the cheering audience. "Every man can make a mistake once. But only fools make it a second time. Neither I nor the German nation has any desire to enter upon such a danger a second time."

Attacks Foreign Press.

Germany last week withdrew her warships from the nonintervention patrol after the Leipzig incident because Britain and France declined to support a naval demonstration off the Spanish coast as a warning to the Valencia government.

Hitler criticized both the committee and the foreign press. He said that after the pocket battleship Deutschland was attacked by two Spanish government planes in May with loss of 31 lives, and Germany replied with bombardment of Almeria, there was condemnation for Germany.

"I am always willing to learn," Hitler said with a tinge of sarcasm. "So after the Leipzig incident Germany appealed to the committee with the result that this body did not heed German demands."

This, he avowed, has proved clearly what Germany would face in the event of a more serious affair.

"From now on," the Fuehrer warned, "we will prefer in such cases to take the freedom, independence, honor and security of our nation into our own hands and protect ourselves alone."

Face Fascists' Hostility.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 27.—Serious conflict is likely to break out Tuesday when the British and French try to get the 27 nation committee for nonintervention in Spain to endorse their plan for control of the entire Spanish coastline. Both Germany and Italy are expected to seize the occasion to register opposition.

Yesterday's incident in which an unidentified submarine sank a Spanish government ship is likely to furnish a considerable amount of work for diplomatic smoothing away. It is openly hinted here that the submarine was not rebel Gen. Francisco Franco's at all, the inference being that it might have been Italian. Gen. Franco, it is pointed out, has at the most only two submarines.

Will Ask Questions.

While the Franco-British offer to fill the gap in the Spain patrol is being discussed, efforts will be made to obtain a clear statement from Germany and Italy on the series of problems raised by their withdrawal from the control scheme. The dictator powers, it is expected, will be asked:

1. Whether their merchant vessels bound for Spanish ports will adhere to arrangements for carrying neutral observers;

2. What duties now will be performed by their fleets and where they propose to concentrate them;

3. Whether they will give assurances not to try to establish an unofficial blockade by means of independent "control" of Spanish bound ships, and

4. Whether Italian and German officials will continue to serve with the corps of observers on the Pyrenees frontier and on the nonintervention board in London.

Send Out Sub Chasers.

VALENCIA, Spain, June 27.—(AP)—The Spanish government today ordered a special vigilance fleet into service against submarines following the sinking of the Spanish merchantman Cabo Palos, laden with foodstuffs.

The merchant ship was sunk early yesterday, the Valencia defense ministry said, off Point Ifach with the loss of five lives.

Forty-four survivors of the Cabo Palos, the government confirmed, were taken to Alicante by a rescue ship after they drifted for several hours in lifeboats.

The defense ministry added that its reconnaisance planes "observed a German naval division of five warships on the same day as the torpedoing, to the south of the point at which the incident took place."

FREED IN SPAIN

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Orr of North Branch, Mich., released by authorities after they had been detained during espionage investigation in Catalonia.

VALENCIA, Spain, June 27.—(AP)—Authorities today released two Americans who had been detained for questioning during an intensive espionage investigation in Catalonia, but continued to hold three others. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Orr of North Branch, Mich., were those freed.

United States Consul Milton K. Wells made inquiries on behalf of a man held here for investigation, whose name was given as Villar J. Finley, described as a photographer of Washington, D. C., and a native of Chicago. Authorities told Wells they found a letter among Finley's effects addressed to José W. Escuder, a Spanish citizen and writer for American newspapers.

Two other Americans, Edward Hugo Oehler and Wolf Kupinsky, were still being held at Barcelona.

RAIDED BY VANDALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 27.—[Special.]—Police were without a trail today of the vandals who yesterday wrecked every room in the three story home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Thwaits, on Back Bay avenue. It is one of the show places of Milwaukee. There was no robbery but the damage will amount to many thousands of dollars.

The Thwaits are in Europe, where they went to attend the coronation. The home was closed except for regular visits by private watchmen and by Miss Gussie Tess, private secretary to Mrs. Thwaits.

The wrecking crew apparently made its way through the attached garage and proceeded through the house, painstakingly smashing things with an ax. The big Tent room, the first entered, showed floor vases smashed, Newell posts broken off, and lamps and books destroyed.

Plan Prosecution of Pair After Lifer Is Set Free

Denver, Colo., June 27.—[Special.]—Prosecution is expected to be started this week against Frank Neill and Earl Parker, automobile thieves, who have confessed a kidnaping for which an innocent man, Ernest Mattice, was given a life sentence. The kidnaping was that of Mrs. Margaret Cyckosz and included a statutory offense. Mrs. Cyskosz named Mattice at his trial, but now has identified Neill and Parker. Mattice has been freed. He forgave Mrs. Cyckosz for her identification of him as her kidnaper.

LOUD SPEAKERS MIGHTIER THAN REBELS' SWORDS

Ruin Enemy's Sleep; Drive Them to Surrender.

WITH THE SPANISH REBELS WEST OF BILBAO, June 27.—(AP)—Spanish rebels pushed westward toward Santander tonight with hand grenades and loud speakers as their chief offensive weapons.

Meeting little opposition, the rebels first subject their foes to a "noise treatment." This is a typical case:

A rebel officer, armed with a loud speaker, sat atop a peak last night telling government soldiers they were silly to keep on fighting.

From a short distance the enemy would shout: "Let us sleep!" Effectiveness of the "noise treatment" was apparent, however, when prisoners were counted at dawn.

Since taking Bilbao, Basque capital, the rebels have found no imposing fortifications to break through. The fighting has been limited chiefly to night attacks and counterattacks.

Revenge for Old Defeat.

IRUN, Franco-Spanish Frontier, June 27.—(AP)—Rebel headquarters announced tonight troops of rebel Gen. Francisco Franco had captured Somorrostro, on the highway between Bilbao and the Biscayan port of Castro Urdiales.

Occupation of the town was hailed by Carlists [monarchists] as revenge for their defeat there by Madrid troops in the civil war of 1871.

Rebels said resistance to their campaign against Santander was borne chiefly by Asturians, asserting most of the Basques have entered their lines.

"Reliable information," the communique said, showed 456 persons have been killed recently in Santander by "Marxists" [loyalists] in fighting between those urging surrender of the city and authorities determined to hold out for a finish fight.

Tell of Intense Suffering.

BORDEAUX, France, June 27.—(AP)—A story of suffering was brought here today from Santander, Spain. It was the story of the Basque army's stand before Santander, on the Biscayan coast west of rebel held Bilbao, told by refugees and others.

Henri Simon, French aid committee representative, accompanied more than 1,000 refugees from Santander. He said more than 400,000 refugees had entered Santander, a city with a normal population of 91,000.

"More than 10,000 wounded were carried into the city last week," Simon said, "to an almost total lack of food was added an equal lack of pharmaceutical products. There is no alcohol nor ether for use in hospitals."

"Many wounded are lying on the ground in the open because the hospitals are overcrowded. Air raid alarms, many of them false, are incessant. The population is living with nerves stretched almost to breaking."

The refugees were landed by the French vessel Perros-Guirec. They included women, children, and old men, many were blind. Ship's officers said the Perros-Guirec was bombed 16 miles off the Spanish coast but was not damaged.

POPE APPROVES RITES FOR NEW SAINT; HOPES FOR PEACE IN SPAIN

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, June 27.—(AP)—Pope Pius today expressed hopes for the return of peace to Spain. In giving formal approval for the canonization of Salvador da Orta, Spanish lay professor of the Franciscan brotherhood, the pontiff said:

"We hope that the miracles of this new saint may intercede in Spain, which gave him birth, to help it to return to peace."

The date for the canonization ceremonies has not been set.

BRITAIN'S FLEET OPENS SHAM WAR OFF COAST TODAY

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—Great Britain announced tonight that maneuvers will begin in home waters tomorrow with the navy "defending" the empire "trade routes" from attack. The hypothetical attack will be presumed to have been launched from a base in Portuguese owned Azores.

Informed persons said the war games had no connection with the present tense situation in the Mediterranean resulting from the Spanish war.

Two Iowa Youths Killed as Plane Crashes in Field

Muscatine, Ia., June 27.—(AP)—Two Muscatine youths were killed here today when the monoplane piloted by one of them, a student flyer, went into a spin from a low altitude and crashed into a cornfield a mile southwest of the municipal airport. Alvin Bishop, 16, suffered a crushed skull and other injuries and was dead when rescuers reached the plane. Lloyd Chrisman, 17 who was piloting the ship, died of a fractured skull.

ONE GOVERNOR SEES THE LIGHT.

Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania continues to shift eccentrically from one wrong position to another, but Gov. Davey of Ohio has apparently shifted from the wrong side to the right. His original purpose in calling out the Ohio National Guard was not as violently inconsistent with the law as was that of Earle, who may be dressing himself up to become Huey Long's successor.

The danger of any comment upon these two officials is apparent. Before it can be printed they may have done something to require different conclusions, but the record as it stands at present is worthy of note because it sets a new high not only in Pennsylvania and Ohio but in Michigan in the control of government by men seeking to violate the laws and having the support of the officials, federal and state, who should have compelled their obedience. Gov. Earle has maneuvered his state troops to protect the insurgents against the law and to prevent enforcement by the local officials where danger threatened.

Gov. Davey did not quite go to this extreme. He seems to have had the mistaken idea that the troops should be used to preserve what was called the status quo. Mills that were open should remain open and the militia should see to it that they were kept open, but mills which were closed, although workmen desired them to open, should remain closed and the troops should see that they did so. Criticism has had no seeming effect upon the Pennsylvania addlepate, but either criticism or some regard for public decency and some respect for the law of the state has made a change in the Ohio governor's policy. His revised order at the end of last week put the Ohio National Guard on its proper duty, which is to protect company property when men willing to work want to re-enter the mills and carry on their jobs.

The duty of the governor and of all forces of authority was plain in the beginning. If state troops were to be used it could be only in the preservation of public order and not in the support of C. I. O. attacks upon the general security. The use of troops against persons who are not law violators is an unusual experience for this country and one the people a few years ago could not have imagined possible. The change in our methods of government could not be more vividly illustrated.

It may soon be found that John Lewis at the head of his organizing committee cannot succeed unless the federal and state governments will back him up in illegal measures. It is already discovered that when the people who deserve protection get it his progress is stopped. He is a man of boundless ambition and great energy and he has fed upon the admiration of radicals, in the government and outside of it, who tell him that for the first time in years a real labor leader has appeared in the United States and who say that the American Federation of Labor with Mr. Green at its head is a moribund aggregation of fossils who cannot be expected to get anywhere in the present class struggle.

That Lewis with the help of government officials was making it a class struggle is proved by all the exhibits at hand. Lewis headed the fighting vanguard of elements which intended to change the economic, social and political order in the United States and the form of government with it.

THE TAX INQUIRY EXPOSED.

The treasury department had submitted to the congressional committee investigating tax evasion and avoidance a list of holding companies, among which was the New York Sun, Inc. The charge was that this company was created to enable Mr. and Mrs. William T. Dewart to escape taxation. Mr. Dewart is president and publisher of the Sun.

The Sun replied in a stinging statement in which it showed that the holding company was created nearly eleven years ago, in 1926, and that 350 members of the staf of the Sun in all departments have received regular dividends ever since. The financial organization of the newspaper has not been modified since the Dewart interests acquired it. Far from attempting to slip a fast one over on the treasury, the Sun has frequently discussed its plan of organization. "Anybody with greater intellectual capacity than a Mongolian idiot" and "even a treasury expert" should be able to understand the facts, says the newspaper's statement.

The language is sharp, but it is deserved. It becomes increasingly evident that the investigation which the administration has demanded and for which it is supplying the information is intended to inflame public opinion and arouse class hatred for reasons best known to the administration.

Ever since there have been tax laws and particularly ever since the United States has had an income tax successive congresses have faced the problem of closing loopholes. There has been no reluctance to do so. A simple showing by the treasury to the appropriate congressional committees that loopholes exist has been sufficient.

The personal holding company as a means of escaping taxation is not a new thing. As long ago as 1934 congress placed a tax, ranging to 35 per cent, on the undistributed profits of personal holding companies. In 1936 the rate was increased on a graduated scale to a maximum of 48 per cent on the net income of such companies over a million dollars. Nobody knows yet what the effects of this increase will be because the returns under it are not yet in, but the experience of the past indicates clearly that if the treasury wants the law changed it can be changed without difficulty, now or in future. Such changes met little resistance when congress was far less under the influence of the administration than it is today.

The plain fact is that the treasury experts committed an egregious blunder in overestimating the revenues for the present fiscal year. The error is of the order of half a billion dollars. The current investigation can do nothing to correct the mistake for the fiscal year ending this month or for the first half of the next fiscal year. Whatever changes in the law are required to close loopholes could be passed without difficulty early next year, when two and a half months will be available for the purpose before the filing of income returns for 1937. The present investigation has no money value to the treasury. It is not to be explained in terms of the financial requirements of the treasury but only in terms of political objectives.

"NOT HOPELESS"—CHAMBERLAIN.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain last week told parliament that there was grave danger of a general European war, but that the situation is "not hopeless." The government was attacked bitterly by the Laborite, Liberal, and radical elements in the house of commons, but was supported by a vote of 157 to 86.

Lloyd George, the one man party who not long ago was suspected of being half converted to Hitlerism by a visit to Germany, became mischievous in his attempts to denounce the Chamberlain program of "patience, caution, and restraint." The elements in the house which are for the Spanish government and against Franco's insurgents describe the nonintervention activities as futile and farcical, but Chamberlain's government was able to meet the arguments and answer the criticism.

It is possible that the prime minister, new to his job, seeks to stress the danger, even the imminent danger, of a general war in order to gain the support usually given a government trying not to step on eggs. However, his statement was a serious one and as a public utterance it could arouse the gravest fears. Chamberlain said that it was the hope of the British government to confine the war to Spain and not allow it to escape.

Germany and Italy are fighting Russia in Spain. The Russian contingent in the Azana government lines is not supposed to be nearly the size of the German and Italian, but it is there and the war is a war between fascism and communism so far as the three major intervening opponents are concerned. Azana is not a communist, but his Popular Front government is supported by the Reds and the anarchists, and Russia is supporting them.

The danger to which Chamberlain undoubtedly referred was that Germany, with the aid of Japan and probably with the aid of Italy, would seek to transfer the seat of war from Spain to Russia. This danger is increased by the present condition of the soviet republics. The soviet press itself describes Russia as a land torn by dissension, full of treachery, with its industrial and economic structure breaking down under the attacks of wreckers, agents of Japan and Germany, and the counter-revolution attributed to the persistent activities of the exiled Trotzky.

Hitler is supposed to be held in check by his military staf, which tells him that the army is not yet prepared for a war of such proportions. He is said to be restless under such restraint and even indignant, and there is a danger that he will become convinced that the present Russian regime is a rotten apple which will fall at one brisk blow. The Russians themselves are doing their best to convince him and the world that that is so.

Editorial of the Day

[The Sun, Baltimore.]

It would perhaps be extreme to ask Mr. Roosevelt to assume responsibility for remarks by Jim Ham Lewis, but the Illinois senator's address to the delegates of the American Medical association at Atlantic City on Thursday presented, whether ironically or objectively is not clear, a lucid sketch of the place which the doctor may expect to take in society if planners are permitted to continue unhampered.

In his address Senator Lewis explained that, under the new dispensation the government would know no "patients" but only citizens. "We recognize an instrument called a citizen," said the senator, "who is essential to the welfare of government. . . . You have professed to be able to help him carry on his life. We need his life for usefulness in civic affairs, for the conduct of affairs of life in its civil nature, in military for the defense of the country." To keep this valuable "instrument" in good health, the government must treat the doctor as an officer of the state, compelling his services as needed. Such, the senator insisted, is the "position in which you are soon going to be put and which every hour you reach nearer and nearer."

It is no wonder that Senator Lewis' remarks are said to have "disturbed" his audience. Jim Ham admitted he didn't think much of it either, but he was sure it was coming. Contact with the ambitions of the New Deal creates strange and horrible mirages, but one would be too sanguine, in view of the extraordinary "extension of the social frontiers" already taken for granted, to assume that even such Gleichshaltung as sketched for the doctors by Jim Ham Lewis is utterly fantastic. From such a prospect not merely the doctors, but the citizens might well turn in revulsion for a government which recognizes no human relations such as that between doctor and patient but only the stern relation between the state and its citizens [as cannon fodder, servants in civil affairs, etc.] is certain to become more of a menace to human happiness and welfare than their precursor.

If Jim Ham has been flying a trial balloon before the collective medical mind, it is one which ought to meet with an immediate barrage of attack, for the most reactionary and obscurantist attitude attributed to medical groups presents no threat to social happiness and the development of the healing art as this theory that, even as a scientist and a physician, a man must be an "officer of the state."

Came down to you. You fed him well, I know,
For he remembered men and brought us word;
We fed him full our best and let him go.
You left no path where these great waters shift:
No echo of your passage and no sight
Of winter-darkened sail or channel drift,
But the great bird has charted us aright.

We will make harbor soon: the ship is low
With cargo for our welcome. Make it so.

Now, for another lil fin, you and you and I can have the right solution for the runoff. . . . This is the ultimate triumph of the machine age. It seemed marvelous when the engineers rolled a million automobiles that couldn't be told one from the other, in looks or performance, down the assembly lines. It is still more startling to realize that for a slim five bucks a generous promoter will put you in touch with $200,000. STOP THAT "HIC."

TO suffer an attack of hiccups in a public place may prove an embarrassing episode. Every one in the audience may not be charitably inclined relative to the cause. Choke the impulse as one may, there will burst forth the irrepressible "hic" which cannot be disguised.

The sound is caused by the sudden contraction of the diaphragm and the column of air thus forced out of the lungs is stopped abruptly in the trachea. The noise is much like that of a popgun when the cork is forced out.

Like all muscles, the diaphragm is controled by nervous impulses and in this condition the phrenic nerve becomes overly officious, transmitting impulses periodically which result in spasmodic, convulsive movements.

Reflexly, of course, the nerve itself may be the seat of the trouble. It may be inflamed or respond because of some irritation within the stomach or the peritoneum [the lining of the abdominal cavity]. Pressure from tumors or enlarged glands may likewise be factors. If the stomach becomes overdistended with food or fluids, the nerve pathway may be disturbed. Systemic diseases, such as pneumonia, pleurisy, heart trouble, or tuberculosis, also may account for the difficulty.

In the largest number of instances the symptom will develop because something has gone wrong within the abdomen, whereupon the nerve sends out stimuli ordering the diaphragm to contract. If the trouble lasts for but a few moments we are not perturbed. Holding the breath for several seconds or taking a few swallows of water may relieve the situation speedily. But when the "hics" continue, the demand for more heroic measures is insistent. Every now and then newspaper dispatches will advise us of patients who have hiccuped persistently for several days.

We must first direct our attention to finding the source, and in seven times out of ten in which the symptom is unrelieved by routine remedies it will be discovered in the stomach, peritoneum, liver, or pancreas. If the manifestation occurs in connection with a wasting disease, raising the resistance of the sufferer will be helpful.

There is an old procedure which has been employed frequently with success. It consists in tickling the nostrils. Whether the victim sneezes or not, the plan has aided many a spasmodic case. Taking deep inspirations, holding the breath, or breathing in and out of a two quart paper sack for a minute or so are other useful suggestions. If no benefit is obtained consideration should be given to the abdominal region.

First of all the stomach should be washed thoroughly. Fluid should be introduced and withdrawn rapidly until it is certain that no undigested material remains. Then a binder or firm bandage may be fixed about the abdomen, forcing the contents up against the diaphragm in such a way that the stretch on that part is relieved completely. The same effect may be produced by holding the breath, with the arms above the head, and contracting the abdominal muscles tightly. Local applications are sometimes of value, such as a mustard plaster over the stomach area.

Desperate cases may demand the inhalation of ether, chloroform, or some general anesthetic. Recovery has followed the administration of carbon dioxide and oxygen combined, and this measure is advocated whenever the necessary apparatus is at hand.

While epidemic hiccup has been reported, such phenomena are not common. Whenever several cases appear in a community at about the same time the disorder accompanies, as a rule, some inflammatory state of the nervous system such as encephalitis or neuritis. There are, of course, toxic origins, and alcohol poisoning or uremia should be kept in mind.

MAY BE ARRESTED.

A. E. M. writes: A says that a person with an arrested case of tuberculosis may live to a ripe old age. B says that having had it once, the disease may become active again. Is this possible?

REPLY.

Tuberculosis may be arrested if not too far advanced and—if careful living requirements are met—the germs will remain safely walled up for the remainder of life. But if resistance is lowered by disease or strain of any kind, the germs will break out again.

HAIR AND HEADACHES.

M. M. writes: Does long hair have anything to do with headaches?

REPLY.

No.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia.—After seventeen years of continuous work, the Latvian government has announced completion of the land reform.

The commission in charge has established 79,404 families on the land, created 54,116 new farms, 9,778 leased farms, 1,568 truck garden farms, 10,853 farms for artisan workers and 2,988 farms for fishermen. It also apportioned 50,532 pieces of land to farms considered too small to produce a living for a family, 6,548 pieces of land were apportioned for social cultural needs, which includes community centers, agricultural schools, and parks; 7,065 pieces of land were assigned to liquidate agricultural servitude, and 11,295 land grants were made for other purposes.

A total of 4,250,000 acres was distributed. The government forestry department contributed timber valued at $24,000,000 to the farmers, enabling them to erect homes, barns, sheds, and other buildings. Much of this timber was distributed among already established farms, since one-third of the buildings in Latvia were destroyed during the war.

Another monumental achievement accomplished by the young Latvian state was the destruction of 4,546 villages on the Slav pattern in Latgallia and colonizing the 70,325 families inhabiting them upon individual farms. These farms total 1,800,000 acres.

Through this undertaking the entire physical aspect of eastern Latvia has been changed. Formerly, in the neighborhood of Daugavpils [Dvinsk], the land was owned by Polish nobility. Under their rule the Latgallians were slowly grouped together in unsanitary, congested, and poverty stricken communities. These villages faced an ever present danger, fire. The houses, barns, and sheds were built so closely together that when one caught fire the entire village burned. Their farming was communal, every five years the land being divided up anew among the peasants. Under this system the peasants did not give their land proper care and the villages sank deeper into poverty each year.

In the remainder of the country the Latvians have always been individual farmers.

President Karl Ulmanis of Latvia, former lecturer at Nebraska university, in discussing the land reform pointed out that in 1913 the German barons in Latvia owned 7,500,000 acres, or 48 per cent of all the land in the country. Latvian farmers owned 6,000,000 acres and land belonging to the church, state, and other owners amounted to about 2,000,000 acres. The majority of the 162 barons, who owned almost half of the total land in Latvia, either fled to Germany or supported Latvia's enemies during the struggle for independence. Those who remained loyal were permitted to keep their palatial homes and 200 acres each of their land.

The Latvians, in confiscating the large estates, did not spare those belonging to their own people. Fifty-one such estates were nationalized.

Latvia's agriculture has been developed after the pattern of Denmark and Holland. Land holdings of an individual are limited at 123.6 acres. The size of the average farm is about 25 acres, and with this amount of land the Latvian farmer generally is able to send a son or daughter through the university and provide a comfortable living for his family. The farmer furnishes Latvia with its chief exports, butter, bacon [pork], flax, seeds, and other produce.

During the depression years Ulmanis, leader of the farmers' party, seized the government. All opposition was stilled when he placed the entire parliament on state pensions. Today all the former political leaders are living comfortably on pensions.

There is one unpleasant looking cloud on the Latvian horizon which is growing bigger. Under the policies of Dictator Ulmanis the burocracy is growing like a Newfoundland puppy. Most of the new jobholders were born and reared on the farm. Their dearest ambition is to get as many as possible of their families, relatives, and friends in government jobs.

The burocrats are scheming ways to start new government activities, bureaus, commissions, or anything that will provide a few more jobs. With a good part of the population hoping to get on the government pay roll, there is little inclination to remain and work on the farm. Latvia, each year, is obliged to import some 30,000 or 40,000 farm hands from abroad.

This year its neighbors, Estonia and Lithuania, closed their frontiers. They needed farmhands themselves. Poland is supplying Latvia with about 25,000 farmhands this year but it is not enough.

ESTATE MATTERS.

Chicago, June 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Have been a reader of your column for years and in 1928 it saved me $500. I would appreciate the following information: In the case of an accidental death, the deceased having no known estate at the time, but for wrongful death [1] who enters into negotiation for settlement, the administrator or his attorney, or both?

2. Should not the attorney tell the administrator who the parties are?

3. Should not the attorney procure more than one order or certification of letters of administration if actually known that more are needed?

4. The settlement check should be made out to the administrator only, [3] or jointly with attorney, [6] who should cash the check?

7. Has attorney the right to take check and cash, [8] then issue his own and admit there are no funds, and [9] request to have money on his account, and still wants an inventory signed; [10] refuses to draw petition for administrator's fees after several requests.

11. Wanted to close estate in 90 days, then changed mind to two weeks.

12. The law states within one year and [13] administrator's duty is to search for additional property, while [14] it is attorney's duty to turn all bills to administrator for payment.

15. Has attorney the right to incorporate his requests for his fees into the petition signed by the heirs, the administrator accepting amount for settlement without this request being incorporated at the time of signing? C. A. C.

1. Under the statute the recovery would be in the hands of the administrator, but he ordinarily employs an attorney.
2. Yes.
3. In general, yes, but we cannot advise to advantage without knowing the facts on which these questions arise.
4. In order to guard against the possibility of an attorney's lien, it is common to make the check out to the attorney and the administrator.
5. See 4.
6. The payee.
7. Depends upon who is the payee.
8. No question asked.
9. Same.
10. We cannot pass upon the propriety of his position without having more facts before us.
11. No question asked.
12. The law allows one year for creditors to file their claims. Ordinarily there is no reason for further delay, but we know of no specific statutory requirement that estates be closed immediately at the expiration of the year.
13. In general, he should reduce the assets to possession.
14. It is not clear what bills you have in mind.
15. We do not understand what petition you refer to.

FROM A MOTHER.

Dolton, Ill., June 23.—I wish to ask Mr. Monroe Fein some questions before answering his in regard to fireworks. I'm wondering if he is protesting because he is unable to put fireworks into his own children's hands or because he is unable to put them into other children's hands? I wonder if he saw an article in last week's paper where a young lad had injured his eye and was in a hospital awaiting the outcome, all because of the premature explosion of a firecracker? That probably didn't mean much. We read of much worse things every day, and yet had he been that young lad's mother or father I wonder if he would still be wanting some 250,000 children to be allowed to play with them!

I wonder if he knows how it feels to be told his son will have to have his eye removed. I wonder if he knows the agony of waiting until you can rush the lad to a hospital. I wonder if he knows what it means to pace a hospital corridor waiting, waiting, waiting. I wonder if he knows the anxiety of waiting days before you'd know whether there ever would be sight there again. Then, too, I wonder how he'd like to watch that son suffer through it all.

After going through all that, I'm wondering if he'd be so anxious to place such dangerous playthings in his and the other 250,000 children's hands. May, be I am just an old fogey, but, too, I am that boy's mother, and may the public officials still keep the ban on and protect as far as possible your children and mine.

A VICTIM'S MOTHER.

HORNS.

Chicago, June 25.—There have been several bitter protests against auto horns in your column, but evidently the public is still unimpressed. What must we do to be heeded? There has been one murder on account of them already, and there would have been another one yesterday if I had had a gun when an unnecessary blast was aimed at me. It wasn't a warning, it was mayhem.

Perhaps we should appeal to automobile manufacturers instead of drivers. How strange that they should spend so much time and money designing those shining, streamlined things that look as if they belong in jewelry cases and then equip them with sawmill whistles! Can't something be done to induce them to put more polite horns on the '38 models or leave them off entirely?

MILDRED LUTON.

VETERAN'S COMPLAINT.

Chicago, June 25.—Why is it that veterans who have a disability such as the loss of an eye or some minor injury find it so hard to get a good job? Take my case. I am a maintenance man by trade and can handle any kind of tools. I worked for a small firm for ten years until they failed. I could have had several good jobs but for the loss of an eye in the war. I passed the physical examinations, of course, except for the eye. One job in a bakery was mine until they found out about the eye. They say the state compensation insurance will not cover me. I am willing to waive that, but they say no.

Do they think we do not have to work and support our families?

JUST A VETERAN.

MARRIED WOMEN AT WORK.

Chicago, June 23.—Why don't these married women, whose husbands are employed, step out and give a single girl a fair chance? No they must keep their positions in order to outdo their friends. They have big cars, swell homes and nice clothes, while the poor single girl walks the streets looking for work.

IN GOD WE TRUST.

Oak Park, Ill., June 21.—In answer to the question of "Anxious" in regard to gold coins without the motto, "In God We Trust," I wish to offer the following explanation:

The Hon. James Pollack, a former governor of Pennsylvania and a member of congress in 1844-'49, boarded with Abraham Lincoln at that time. When Lincoln became President he appointed Pollack as director of the mint, and it is to him that we owe the motto in question.

G. F. LINDEN.

MORE DETAILS.

Paw Paw, Mich., June 24.—A few days ago an inquiry was made concerning the omission of "In God We Trust" from a gold coin of 1861.

That legend did not appear on any United States coin till the minting of the bronze 2 cent piece in 1864. On Nov. 13, 1861, suggestion was made Secretary of the Treasury Salmon P. Chase that recognition of the Almighty God should appear in some form on our coins. This met with favorable consideration from the secretary, and on his suggestion congress passed a law which permitted such a motto if it should meet the approval of the secretary of the treasury. On account of an old law this could not be done immediately, so the bronze 2 cent piece was the first United States coin to bear such inscription. In 1908, by act of congress, it was decreed that hereafter all coins shall bear such legend.

THE RECORD REVIEWED.

Wichita, Kas., June 23.—The alliance between the New Deal party and labor unions is proving to be of serious consequences as affecting the peace and prosperity of the country. The faux pas of John L. Lewis to the effect that President Roosevelt would doubtless reciprocate fully the support given him by union labor brought from the President the amazing statement that he was 100 per cent for Mr. Lewis.

Subsequent events in harmony with this unholy alliance should be recorded as follows: Failure of Gov. Murphy in Michigan to support the court order ousting sit-down strikers from company property; failure of the secretary of labor, Miss Perkins, to see anything illegal in sit-down strikes; mingling of government men with C. I. O. men at the Ford plant in Dearborn; official offer of relief, if needed, to families of strikers; refusal of postoffice department to accept mail matter for delivery to steel companies; destruction of property and attacks upon law officers without any action by the government at Washington; boast of the unions that four departments of the government were already supporting them; eloquent silence of the President at a time when violent and destructive strikes are sweeping the country with increasing approach to revolution. Could election of the communist ticket last November have done worse than this?

Six children playing on a sidewalk were injured, several perhaps seriously, last night when they were struck by an old automobile which got out of control of its driver. The accident occurred in front of 532 West 27th street.

Those injured were Helen Espinosa, 6 years old, and her sisters, Tillie, 7, and Carmela, 8, all of 536 West 27th street; Dolores Gaynor, 5, of 528 West 27th street, and Louise Calderon, 10, and her brother, Rochando, 7, both of 530 West 27th street. The Calderon children are Mexican. All six were taken to the County hospital.

The driver was Alphonse Casa, 53 years old, 621 West 26th street, a WPA worker, who had bought the car Friday for $55, and was just learning to drive it. He fled after the accident, but surrendered to police half an hour later, explaining he ran away because of fright.

Seize Hit-Run Driver.

Miss Olga Galbis, 31 years old, 1308 South 50th court, Cicero, was in serious condition yesterday in Frances Willard hospital after being struck by a hit and run automobile. The driver was later arrested by two Cicero motorcycle policemen, James Whynott and James Fiala.

The auto, driven by Ted Wodecki, 28, of 5117 West 29th street, Cicero, hit Miss Galbis as she waited to board a street car at 13th street and Cicero avenue. The two policemen, about half a block behind Wodecki, saw the accident and caught him after a mile-long pursuit. Wodecki said he did not see the woman. He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and released on $2,000 bond. He will be arraigned in Cicero Police court on Friday.

Vincente Invovino, 84 years old, 927 South Hoyne avenue, was fatally injured by the auto of a hit and run driver yesterday at 28th and Halsted streets. He died at Peoples' hospital. Deering police are hunting the driver.

Jolted Off Truck; Dies.

Wendel Ramsey, 16 years old, 6421 Evans avenue, a helper on a truck, was fatally injured yesterday when he was jolted to the pavement as the truck was struck by an east bound Montrose avenue surface lines car near Knox avenue. He died in Belmont hospital. Police said the accident occurred when the truck swerved in front of the street car. Lee Dorsey, 4228 North Marmora avenue, was driving the truck.

Mrs. Clara Taylor, 40 years old, 8514 River Grove avenue, River Grove, died in Oak Park hospital yesterday of injuries suffered several hours earlier when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Roy, plunged into the Des Plaines river in River Grove. Taylor is recovering.

Vernon Daufall, 22 years old, 1124 Norton avenue, Elgin, was seriously injured and two companions were slightly hurt yesterday when his automobile hit a culvert north of the Barrington road in Higgins road and fell into a creek. With him were Victor Boncoski, 21, and Walter Schultz, 22, both of Elgin. Daufall was taken to Sherman hospital in Elgin.

Sylvester Daniels, 23 years old, 1416 Roosevelt road, a WPA worker, suffered a crushed chest yesterday when he lost control of his motor scooter and ran into an automobile at Ashland avenue and Hastings street. He was taken to county hospital. John Paganos, 3113 Washington boulevard, was driving the automobile.

Killed After a Wedding.

Two youths going home from a wedding were killed early yesterday when their auto was crushed between a safety island and a street car in front of 4854 Madison street. They were John Barry, 21 years old, 524 South Highland avenue, Oak Park, the driver, and William McClelland Jr., also 21, of 4421 Congress street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 506 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. Of this number 394 were killed in Chicago, where 10,293 were injured in the same period.

60TH ASSEMBLY SCHEDULED FOR LIVELY WINDUP

Prepare for Adjournment Wednesday Night.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]—Speaker Lewis and other legislative leaders arrived here today to complete preparations for ending the affairs of the six months regular session of the 60th general assembly within the next three days.

The finish is scheduled for some time Wednesday night, probably to the accompaniment of the usual fiction of setting the clock back before midnight so that the journal, at least, will show that all bill action was completed before the arrival of July 1, the date fixed by the constitution for new enactments to take effect.

Drags on to Deadline.

That all of the bills passed at this session will not go into operation at once is due to the practice of letting the session drag on until the absolute deadline, after which the governor still has his constitutional ten days in which to pass on the work done at the end. As usual, the big jam will come in the house which will have about 150 bills on its calendar at the opening of business at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. The senate will have less than 50 measures to clear as it starts its final week at the same hour.

Alternate periods of turmoil and horseplay invariably mark the closing hours in the house. Firecrackers are set off under the chairs of unsuspecting members while water is dumped on others who sit near the gallery rails.

House Passes 185 Bills.

The house has passed 185 bills and the senate 71 since Jan. 6, the opening date. Predictions are that about 50 more will be approved on passage roll calls during the final three days. Thus, the product of the session appears likely to be in the neighborhood of 300 bills.

More than 50 of the bills already passed are appropriation measures. The problem of a drivers' license law remains the most important matter remaining for consideration. The situation in regard to this measure is discussed in detail elsewhere in this issue.

CHILD DIES OF BURNS.

Benton Harbor, Mich., June 27.—[Special.]—Patricia Ann Hoffman, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hoffman, Benton Harbor, died in Mercy hospital this morning of burns received in a fire of unknown origin at the Hoffman home yesterday.

PROTEST TODAY AS WPA LAYS OFF 13,000 IN CHICAGO

With the dismissal of 13,000 Works Progress administration workers in Chicago nearly completed, mass protests will be made today and tomorrow under leadership of a committee of officials of several WPA unions. Because of curtailment of funds, the WPA has scheduled the layoff of 27,000 in Illinois by June 30.

Picketing of WPA headquarters in the Merchandise Mart and of large WPA projects today was ordered by the committee. Tomorrow night a meeting of discharged WPA workers will be held at Hull house, with addresses by A. F. of L. and C. I. O. representatives.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Dangers of Inbreeding

Would you like to be a farmer? Read "Day by Day on the Farm," a fascinating chronicle of modern farm life by Frank Ridgway, Tribune agricultural editor. Its 94 pages are illustrated with 58 captivating photos of farm scenes. Get a copy at either of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower. On sale also at the Tribune Wheaton farm. Price, 25 cents. Postpaid, 32 cents.

June 27, 1937.

STUDIES at the Tribune's Wheaton farm reveal that there is danger in line breeding for the man who is not a skilled breeder although outstanding progress has been made in recent years by master breeders.

Both advantages and disadvantages of inbreeding should be carefully gone into before farmers launch a program where there is to be matings of full brothers and full sisters or matings between parents and offspring. There are several advantages to inbreeding where cattle, horses, sheep or hogs are handled under a project carefully developed and supervised. The advantages of inbreeding, summarized by Prof. H. H. Yapp, chief of dairy cattle breeding at the University of Illinois, were given in this column recently.

Lists Disadvantages.

Among the disadvantages of inbreeding Prof. Yapp includes the following:

"1. In general any breed or class has a number of recessive characteristics which are objectionable. Inbreeding intensifies these. They may become so serious [in the form of reduced vigor, fertility, or vitality] that the breeder will not wish to follow the system at all.

"2. Sometimes, more frequently than not, the foregoing disadvantages of inbreeding manifest themselves in dairy cattle in the form of reduced fertility and occasional complete sterility. This makes inbreeding decidedly impractical.

"3. Inbred animals may decline in vigor and size. This is indicated by the fact that there is a tendency for the productivity and size of the animals to increase when an unrelated outcross is brought into an inbred population. This recovery does not occur unless the outcross is made in an inbred population."

Depends on Animals.

This authority says further that in general the decision on the matter of inbreeding will depend to a very large degree upon the nature of the animals with which the breeder is dealing.

"If the animals possess only desirable characteristics," says Yapp, "there is no doubt that the breeder can decrease the uniformity and the breeding true of his animals by inbreeding. On the other hand, if the animals have some objectionable characteristics which are recessive, or covered up, it may be questionable whether he wishes to make the immediate sacrifice to accomplish what he seeks, although in the long run he might through inbreeding improve the genetic character of his herd."

Before starting in on an inbreeding program a farmer should make a careful study of the breeds of the kind of animals he is to raise, secure some of the best animals of the breed, know his goal, and equip himself with information that will make it possible for him to recognize animals' qualities, good and bad. It is apparent that inbreeding is not safe for unskilled or careless breeders.

HERE'S WHY YOU SHOULD USE NOXZEMA FOR SUNBURN

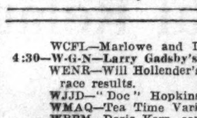
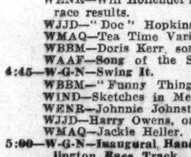
1 Chief lifeguards and nurses at First-Aid Hospitals at America's biggest beaches, such as Atlantic City, Coney Island, Miami Beach, Asbury Park, use Noxzema. Experience with sunburn has taught them that nothing gives such instant and soothing relief as this famous medicated cream.

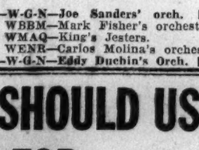


2 Surveys show that hundreds of doctors use Noxzema Medicated Cream for sunburn for themselves and their families—and prescribe it, too. They know that cool, soothing Noxzema relieves sunburn pain instantly—helps heal scorched tender skin quickly. Treat sunburn as hundreds of doctors do with Noxzema Medicated Cream.



3 Over 10,000,000 cases of sunburn successfully treated with Noxzema! For sure instant results use Noxzema. Notice how quickly heat and soreness disappear. And remember, Noxzema is snow-white, greaseless—can't stain clothes or bed linen! Get Noxzema at any drug or department store.

And Noxzema is Snow-white, Greaseless—Doesn't Stain Clothes or Bed Linen



A RICH, EVEN TAN WITHOUT PAIN, WITHOUT STAIN

For a smooth, gradual tan use Noxzema Suntan Oil or new Noxzema Greaseless Suntan Cream. Both contain a scientific screen which filters harmful sun rays—allows a comfortable easy tan. And Noxzema Suntan Cream is absolutely greaseless—can't stain clothes or bathing suits!

PREAM—Cornelius John Pream. A tribute of love to our dearly beloved son and brother, whose birthday is today, June 28. How often do we tread the path
That leads us to the grave
Where rests the one we love so well
But whom we could not save.
Long days, long nights you bore your pain,
Waiting for cure, but all in vain
God saw that you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed your weary eyes
And whispered, "Peace be thine."

Good morning!

This is a gay, busy "musical."

It rings in a lot of pretty girls, songs, sets and scenery, and plenty of good looking young men who really look as if they could fight for their country were they called upon to do so.

As for plot, it leans fondly on the radio, and the "singing marine" is, of course, Dickie Powell.

As the picture opens, the locale is San Diego. Mr. Powell, whose melting voice has made him the pride of his company, is due for a furlough.

It is the wish of his buddies that Bob Brent "try out" on an amateur radio hour being conducted in New York by you know whom. They take up a collection and send the boy friend on his way. Aboard the same Manhattan bound train is Peggy Randall, a pretty cashier in whom Bob is interested and who also aspires to be a star in radio. . . .

Well, to be brief—Bob makes good.

His radio and company activities get into a grand mixup and Brent's head swells to such proportions that he falls into disfavor with those who once had loved him. Peggy is a flop at the "tryout," but big-hearted Bob engages her as his secretary when he signs the contract that fairly leaps at him after certain interested parties—one of whom is Hugh Herbert—hear THAT VOICE. . . .! She, however, also finally rings the bell.

A great deal occurs to charming musical accompaniment. The action is effectively salted with the ever welcome comedy of Mr. Herbert.

Mr. Powell turns out a neat job in the title rôle. Doris Weston as the girl friend is pretty and poised and, though I thought she occasionally sings a bit off key, has really a nice voice. Lee Dixon presents his devastating smile and some of his swell eccentric dancing. He reminds me a lot of Buddy Ebsen. An A1 cast of principals delivers in fine shape.

There are a number of hummable songs and several out of the ordinary ensemble numbers that are a credit to their director, Busby Berkeley.

"The Singing Marine," served up in a nice, cool theater, should prove a tasty summer movie dish for you.

A. B. Roosevelts Introduce Their Daughter to Society

Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., June 27.—[Special.]—Miss Theodora Roosevelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald B. Roosevelt and granddaughter of Theodore Roosevelt, was introduced to society tonight at a dinner and entertainment at Turkey Lane house, the home of her parents in this colony. The guests included many of the debutantes of the present season and guests in the country houses near by.

ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Belle Pottasch of Beverly Hills, Cal., and New York has announced the engagement of her daughter, Shirley Muriel, to Charles Kenneth Kurtzon, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kurtzon of Chicago. The wedding will take place in California Aug. 12.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A VOLUNTEER stooge from London sends a photograph of the menu card, monogrammed ER and adorned with the royal crest, that stood on the dinner table at Fort Belvedere the evening of Dec. 10, the day of the abdication of Edward. It is written in French in the handwriting of the royal chef, presumably. In case you would like to know what the king had for dinner the night he gave up his throne it was: Cream of oyster soup, grilled meat bones with a sharp sauce, chopped spinach and eggs, jugged hare, salad, a fruit-flavored sweet on the order of a sherbet, and a bacon savoury.

Menu—
Incident—
Notes—
Grit.

A LITTLE incident that occurred on a recent afternoon was another illustration of the fact that Chicago is a city with a heart and not a decadent civilization with little of the true Americanism that certain writers say distinguishes smaller cities. Jim Rogers was driving on the south side with his car radio tuned in for the ball game. He was motoring alongside a street car when the motorman, attracted by the ball game broadcast, leaned out and called, "How's it going?"

"Giants ahead—8 to 0," Mr. Rogers called back. "Second half of the 8th. Augie Galan's at the bat . . ."

"Say, do you mind stopping so I can hear it a minute?" said the motorman.

Mr. Rogers obligingly pulled up and turned his radio up. After Augie had struck out, the motorman called his thanks, and started up his car and Mr. Rogers stepped on it, too.

CUFF notes. Mischa Mischakoff, retiring first violinist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, keeps his hotel room ten degrees lower than the rest of the hotel, for the sake of his violins.

A Miss Lulu B. Lofty has a voice studio in Oak Park, and Alex M. Tough is a real estate operator near Volo.

A young colored girl who rides on the elevated wears a pair of miniature revolvers swinging from her ears. Oughtn't it to be razors?

A Lake Forest woman has ordered ten of the same brimmed, open crown hats—but in ten colors.

HARD luck and pluck story. A 2 year old girl in Holland, Mich., contracted the mumps. Through her, both her father and the maid were infected. The little girl and the maid recovered in a short time, but the father is severely ill and the attending physician has had to call in another for consultation. The father has a milk route, and since his wife is the only one who knows the route, she has been getting up every morning at 2:30 in order to start out at 3. She completes the route at 10:30 and at 11 she begins work in a beauty shop, where she is employed until 6 o'clock and sometimes later.

Throng to View Arlington Park Opening Today

Post and Paddock Parties to Precede Races.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE place to spend this afternoon, or any afternoon through July 31, will be at Arlington Park, where a thirty day horse racing season is being opened today. Most of the members of the fashionable Post and Paddock club are planning to take luncheon there before the races start. Those who are late for luncheon will arrive in time to occupy their boxes in the Jockey club stand well before "they're off!" at the most important race of the afternoon, the Inaugural handicap.

The current season at this beautiful course will furnish a program of racing that "will vie in wealth of presentation with the opulence of grand opera," according to one of the park's press agents. In any event, there will be plenty of grand opera stars at the track during the meet, for the opening of the Ravinia Festival season on Thursday will bring some of the most famous persons in the musical world to Chicago this summer.

George Woodruffs Give Luncheon Next Saturday.

The George Woodruffs, seasonal boxholders at the Chicago City Opera as well as at Arlington, already have issued invitations to luncheon at the Post and Paddock next Saturday for the famous tenor, Mario Chamlee, and Mrs. Chamlee, who will be here from New York; and the Clifford Caldwells.

Laurance Hearne Armour, president of the Post and Paddock, and Mrs. Armour will give one of the largest of the luncheon parties today at the club. Charles A. McCullough, chairman of the board of the Jockey club, and Mrs. McCullough also will take luncheon on the Post and Paddock terrace. Later in the season, when their horses are brought here to run, such notables as the John Hay Whitneys, the Cornelius V. Whitneys, Mrs. Dodge Sloan, the Arnold Hangars, and William Woodward will be seen daily at the track.

Mrs. Hinckley and Her Daughter Here Wednesday.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley and her daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, are arriving Wednesday to spend a few days in Chicago. They will stay in Mrs. Hinckley's apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive. Miss McClurg is coming to take part in some of the early summer debutante festivities, which means that she undoubtedly will spend a few sunny afternoons at Arlington with some of her friends among the Lake Forest buds.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinckley, who live at Brookline, Mass., and Miss McClurg spent the spring in Paris and were in London for the coronation. Miss McClurg is to be presented to Chicago society at a ball during the Christmas holidays.

Miss Margaret Enders is here until Thursday on her annual visit to Chicago as the guest of Mrs. Wentworth Field. Then she will go to Sinissippi farm for a visit with the Frank O. Lowdens, and will accompany them north to Castle Rest, their home in the Thousand Islands. After a visit with Mrs. William Moore at Pride's Crossing Miss Enders will return to her home in Florence the end of August, just in time for a visit with her niece, Mrs. Ralph H. James.

Mrs. James and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick are sailing July 16 from Canada for their annual visit with their children who are living abroad. Mrs. James will visit her aunt in Florence in September just before sailing for home.

Mrs. Frederick V. Burgess has arrived at the Deerpath inn from her home in Burlington, Vt., for a fortnight's visit with her relatives and old friends here. Her two younger daughters, Catherine and Allan McIlvaine, are with her, and Peggy McIlvaine will arrive next week after a visit in Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Murphy will have as their guest this week Walter W. Price of New York.

At a luncheon Saturday at the Shawnee Country club, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Boylston of Wilmette announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Elinor, to Edward Woodruff Gibbs, son of Mrs. O. R. Gibbs of Seattle, Wash.

Miss Boylston, who always is called Patsy, attended Wellesley college for two years, and was graduated from Northwestern university in 1935, with Phi Beta Kappa honors. She is a member of the Service league of the Evanston Infant Welfare society.

Mr. Gibbs is a junior at the Northwestern university medical school. The wedding probably will take place in the early winter.

Margaret Isabel Kelly Engaged to B. F. Troxel Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas Kelly gave a tea at home in Evanston yesterday to announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Isabel, to Benjamin Fraser Troxel Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Troxel, also of Evanston.

Miss Kelly attended Western College for Women in Oxford, O., and Northwestern university. Mr. Troxel attended the Phillips Exeter academy and the University of Chicago, where he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss May Morrill Dunn, formerly of Chicago, to S. Axel von Bergen of Detroit was made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morrill Dunn, at their home at Grosse Pointe, Mich., yesterday. Miss Dunn is a graduate of the Ethel

Charming Maid of Honor

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

What the well dressed bridesmaid is wearing this summer season is shown above by Miss Ann Whitehead, who wore a new shade of orange ice mousseline de soie to be maid of honor at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Kean Hughes, to Frederick Carlton Williams, on June 12 in Barrington. Miss Whitehead, who lives in St. Louis, and the bride are granddaughters of the Rt. Rev. Charles Edward Woodstock, Episcopal bishop of Kentucky, who officiated at the ceremony.

Cool Cottons Are Favorites for Hot Days

Dawn-to-Dusk Fashions Are Available.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

A cool way to impress your public is to wear clean, cool, crisp, airy cotton from dawn till dark. You can start the day with dotted swiss house coats and negligees. There are whites and bright and pastel tinted models. The coats have short puffed sleeves, flounced skirts, and contrasting colored ribbon sashes.

Daytime dresses for the hottest day come in dark and light tones, stunning navy, beet red, deep green, tobacco brown, and black. These dresses are fine for office wear. They are of the snappy two piece styles with short sleeves, high tailored necklines and are made as simply as possible with the minimum of gadgets and doodads. The same frocks in white, peppered with pin point dots in vivid color, are slick buys for the country shopper who comes to town for the day. Most of them are priced away under $10.

Modestly priced daytime dresses in dull black cotton, with a texture resembling shantung, come with cooling white dots and seam outlines in the same white. These are slim all-black numbers with which you wear the dazzling white pieces of costume jewelry and white gloves or pale pink costume accessories.

Dark green and white make an ideal summer combine. Green dimity, dotted swiss, thin net, and tissue gingham are some of the tub materials to use.

For dress parade nothing equals the mysterious loveliness of dull black chiffon, net, or marquisette. Worn with all-black accessories or with pastels, they're among the best buys of the season.

Don't overlook the grand collections of cotton and fine linen lingerie. Thin, amazingly cool white linen nightgowns come with fine val edging. These are cut like the best of the form fitting evening gowns and are priced around $3. There are bow-knot printed cottons for around $2 that come in blue, green, and red, with very narrow shoulder straps and cool cutout necklines.

837,404 Members Gained in Year by American Churches

New York, June 27.—(AP)—Religious bodies of all denominations gained 837,404 members last year for a total of 63,493,036, the periodical Christian Herald reported tonight.

The gain was divided in part as follows: Catholic, 221,837; Baptist, 140,308; Reformed, 81,958; Lutheran, 43,905; Methodist, 41,798; Unitarian, 38,026; Episcopal, 21,193; Evangelical, 9,390; Presbyterian, 6,507; Nazarene, 5,867; Adventist, 5,435; Mennonite, 4,101; Foursquare Gospel, 5,225; United Brethren, 1,073.

The total average per cent of gain for the year for all denominations was 1.33 per cent, as compared with the population gain of the entire United States in the same period of only .71 per cent, said the periodical.

Feminine Fans to Get Shock in Lederer Movie

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 27.—[Special.]—Feminine idolizers of Francis Lederer are due for a shock in the star's next picture, "It's All Yours." The Czechoslovakian actor will not always be his suave self. His admirers will be pained to learn that his wavy locks get mussed up and a disfiguring black eye mars his features.

No less will the masculine fans of Madeleine Carroll, who plays opposite Lederer, suffer in the early part of the picture as the blonde charmer's glamor is hidden behind a special makeup to give her the appearance of a plain office secretary.

Complained Director Elliott Nugent after John Wallace, makeup man, had completed the job, "I know you've done the best you can, Wallace, but even toned down our private secretary is still a girl no romantically inclined male could overlook."

Lederer, as Jimmy Barnes, is a rich playboy who gives his wealthy uncle's secretary, Linda Gray, scant attention until the uncle dies, leaving the fortune to the girl. Barnes becomes her bookkeeper. Meanwhile the girl throws off her ugly duckling shell and attracts as No. 1 suitor a broken down nobleman, Mischa Auer, who is after her money.

Jimmy—You're not going to marry Baron Rene, are you?

Linda—I don't see why I shouldn't.

Jimmy—Well, why don't you marry me, then? I'm as big a heel as he is.

Another handsome male star who made good in westerners is being groomed for more sophisticated rôles. He is Bob Allen, Columbia's leading exponent of the great outdoors.

A graduate of Dartmouth in the class of 1929, Allen tried motion pictures after he left school, but turned to the stage in 1931. After three years of experience in New York, Columbia brought him to Hollywood. His real name is Bob Baer.

Sally's Guests to Have Grand Time at Movie

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[The activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

"TEN-SHUN!" boys and girls!

Everybody lined up for our second big party? It's to be on July 8. Here's your chance to see Dick Powell as a letherneck in his latest film, "The Singing Marine." It's a new Warner Brothers musical.

Another of your favorites, Hugh Herbert, has a lot to do in this picture. If you like to laugh, you'd better see him, and I dare you to keep a straight face. Pretty Doris Weston plays Dick's girl and sings with him, too. Larry Adler, the famous harmonica player is also featured.

I could write a whole page about things you'll like in this movie, but I haven't time or space for that. I just promise you'll enjoy every minute.

If you would like very much to join my party at the Roosevelt theater I'd like to know about it. So write me a letter, telling me why you want to be my guest on July 8. Tell me your name and address and age, and mail your letter so that the postman can bring it to me not later than next Thursday.

If you can convince me that you'd enjoy this party, maybe your name will be printed in next Sunday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and you can be one of the hundred happy boys and girls who'll have this treat with me.

Just address your letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

SYNOPSIS.

INSTALMENT XIII.

UNPROVEN GUILT.

"Your living room windows are dark," Newton said, as they reached the house. "I had thought that I would collect my superfluous nephew, but he seems to have had sense enough to go home. If you will excuse me, I will not go up with you, Katharine."

"Does that mean that I am now to tell you good-by?" the girl asked, rousing herself.

"Good night," he corrected her.

"Good night, then." She hesitated. "It seems hard to be so sorry for you as I am and not know one single thing to say."

"Are you sorry for me? Thank you."

"I did not suppose that there could be anything worse than the things that I have imagined. This is. This is worse."

Newton sat up suddenly.

"I had forgotten that you did not understand," he said, a sort of horror in his voice. "None of this is true. John Millis did not kill my brother. Nobody thinks he did—nobody."

"Nobody but you?"

"Nobody but me."

"And me."

The girl's tone was final and almost casual. Newton looked at her very straight.

"Why do you believe it, Katharine?" he asked. His tone was carefully controled.

The girl brushed her hand wearily across her eyes.

"How could I believe anything else?" she asked. "If you say it is true,

"O, Kit, are you going to be a fool and fall for that story?"

you think it is true. If you think it is true, it is true. You do not make mistakes."

"Yes, I make mistakes. Many of them."

"I shall have to believe him guilty until he proves himself innocent. I'm sorry. I actually liked the man."

"He is not innocent," Newton said, with angry finality. "But I must warn you that I have little evidence and no proof. My brother told me, but no one heard him, because he did not say one word. He couldn't. He was suffering from a paralysis of the vocal cords. When he saw that I could not understand what he was trying to say, he quit trying and merely looked at me very steadily. And I knew. I cannot tell you, Katharine, how many times that had happened before. We did not need words, he and I. We often knew—just that way. But this time it was undoubtedly a figment of my imagination distorted by grief. Undoubtedly John Millis is a fine and honorable gentleman, and I—I am a little mad."

"You are not mad." Katharine's tone was not argumentative. It was almost indifferent.

Newton leaned back in the far corner of his seat and looked at Katharine in a brooding silence. She, too, was silent, wrapped in her own unhappy thoughts. She was quite unconscious of his steady gaze. At last he laid a hand over hers lightly to remind her of his presence.

"Go in now, please, and go to bed," he said.

They paused at the door.

"You've been very good to me," the girl stammered, raising grateful eyes.

"I was not aware of it."

"O, you must know that you have been kind. I walked in on you so unceremoniously, and you made me feel comfortable and welcome. Then, when it was time for me to go, I stayed, like a dumb beggar, asking for more. And you gave me all you had. . . ."

Newton smiled, a brilliant smile which flashed forth occasionally, and for which those who knew him best learned to watch. As a student, Katharine had come to know that rare smile.

"I didn't know that you knew," he laughed. "Yes, I am giving you all I have. I have taken you into a place rather more difficult of access than my library." Then he regained his usual friendly impersonal manner. "Thank you for the faith you have shown in me, Katharine. I shall do all that is in my power for you, for you and Michael."

He gave her a quick nod, which did not harmonize with his eyes, which bored into her when he turned them on her, and went away.

Katharine found Joan in bed. She sat down on the edge of Joan's bed, and told her briefly what she had just learned. She was not prepared for the reception which she got.

"O, Kit, are you going to be a fool and fall for that story?" Joan protested. "I just can't believe that you will. I'd heard that story from Terry."

"Has he known all along that John Millis killed his father?" Katharine gasped.

"Kit! Kit, listen to me! You are never to say that again. Of course John Millis did nothing of the sort. It's tragic, but Mr. Amos Newton, the pride of the law school over here, the stuff of which we make our really great judges, a man who in every other respect is reasonable and sane, has this one terrible obsession. He only speaks of it to a few of his best friends, and he has seemed to be living it down. Don't, for the sake of all of us, encourage him in it. It would be unforgivable."

She slept only fitfully that night. When she got up, her world was badly askew. They had forgotten to mark the milk card. The one grapefruit was spoiled. Joan had left her door inhospitably closed and evidently did not intend to appear.

Then, when Katharine had made up her mind to skip breakfast, Michael presented himself. On this, of all mornings, he was a fashion plate Michael, debonair, beautifully groomed, with a flower in his buttonhole and a very dashing black patch on his cheek, strongly suggestive of student duels or high romance. Last night she would have sacrificed all hopes of heaven to have seen the young man. But one's emotion cannot be kept at a high pitch for all of the twenty-four hours. She rather wished he had stayed home.

"You just can't have any breakfast," she said, somewhat miserably. "There isn't even cream for the coffee."

"No?" the young man laughed. "Well, there's a cow in the alley."

Quite unconcernedly he dashed off in pursuit of the milkman and returned with milk, cream, a grapefruit, and a morning paper.

"You needn't break your neck, honey," he said soothingly. "I'll drive you down and that will save you thirty minutes. Sit down and read the paper. I like to fix grapefruit."

He telephoned for his car, then set to work busily. Every time he passed her chair he bent and kissed lightly the back of her neck. He loved that beautiful nape of the neck, with the moist clustering curls. No one could have been more comforting to have about than he.

He delivered her at the office three minutes ahead of time. As he swung her out of the car he astonished her by seizing her in his arms for one mad moment. She could feel his heart beating hard.

"Now what's the matter with you, Michael?" she said, laughing softly. Her eyes shone with excitement and happiness.

"Poor Uncle Amos!" she murmured to herself, as she unlocked her office door. "It's curious that so kind and reasonable a man should have that one obsession."

Which is an example of the amazing resilience of youth.

And also of the power which Michael Eden had attained through weeks of steadfast discipline, to abstract himself from his past and his future during the brief time he spent with Katharine, and live only in the immediate present. Michael had had a trying night.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here

Exactly How Long Should Courtship Be?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

I would like the opinion of you readers on what you think constitutes the perfect courtship period. Or, to put it otherwise, do you think one year of steady companionship, to the exclusion of others with an engagement either publicly made or privately understood, a long enough wait? Or two years?

Do you believe that extending it on into a third and fourth year introduces features that bode ill for the procrastinating pair?

We have our own opinion on the subject, influenced by the sad tales revealed of broken engagements and quarrels and general misunderstandings which so frequently accrue from the long engagement. On the other hand, we hear occasionally of a pair who manage to weather the extended courtship period well and happily.

And we'd like to ask another question concerning time and courtship.

How long do you think the average pair should know each other before committing themselves into each other's care and keep for the rest of their lives?

Granted some folks have met and married on as brief a courtship as a couple of weeks, and their marriages have turned out well. Are you not of the opinion that these are rare cases, indeed? That the average pair prospers better for having known each other long enough to be well acquainted before marriage? One speaker on this topic recently advocated a two year acquaintance before taking the fatal plunge. In two years' time, the assumption is that with each others' foibles and idiosyncrasies well understood and labeled as such, that the common disillusionment from which brides and bridegrooms are inclined to suffer might be eliminated.

But we've heard it argued that not two years, nor ten nor twenty before marriage, will reveal the individual as clearly as a couple of years of marriage.

What do you think about this courtship term? Do you think six months enough for gathering all the needed information about the intended partner? A year? Or, how long?

So many, many of the brief acquaintance marriages do turn up quickly in the court that separates the involved pair that this evidence alone would seem to be convincing argument for the lengthier term of getting acquainted. But we'd welcome your version of "terms" relative to both questions.

Overactivity in Summer Is Bad for Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

When vacation comes don't let your children "run all the flesh off their bones." We are apt to think that the blessed outdoors will automatically build the children up and automatically insure them perfect health.

As a matter of fact, this is not so. Sunshine and exercise are wonderful things, but they have to be taken in reasonable doses. Certainly children who love being on the go, often do run all the flesh off their bones in summer, unless an alert mother keeps an eye on things. Otherwise they end the summer thin and run down. Children don't know the limits of their endurance—it is quite natural that they shouldn't—and so some grownup has to check up on their lavish expenditure of energy. That isn't done by a series of don'ts but by good management.

Good management to conserve a child's energy in summer usually covers three points.

1. Plenty of sleep and one or two rest periods during the day.

2. Besides that there should be one or two periods of quiet play or interesting, quiet activity of some sort.

3. The third point is one often ignored in warm weather, and that is food. Many persons think that, in summer, cold foods and light foods should predominate in the diet of children as well as grownups. This is a great mistake [except where a grown person is leading a lazy or inactive life]. But it is especially important that energy foods should not be cut out of the children's diet in summer. It is not only their great activity but also the heat that "takes it out of them," and they are more apt to reap the full benefits of summer if plenty of good, nourishing energy food is retained in their diet.

It should hardly be necessary to add that excessive quantities of cold drinks and fresh fruits are to be avoided, and that too much sun actually may be dangerous.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

Luncheon Today to Start Student Opera Ticket Fund

Mrs. James G. Shakman today is giving the first of a series of luncheons sponsored by the Opera Luncheon club to raise funds to provide Thursday night boxes at the opera next winter for the use of music students. Members of the club are giving luncheons followed by bridge at their homes, and proceeds will go to the fund.

A good doughnut, tender and brown, with a thin, slightly crisp crust and an aroma which brings on a series of deep breathing exercises, is worth stealing behind the cook's back.

A good frying fat, the correct frying temperature and thorough draining of the cooked doughnuts are necessary if results are to justify the time spent.

Vegetable shortenings are highly desirable frying media. Most of them have a high smoking point and, therefore, do not begin to decompose at doughnut frying temperatures.

The correct temperature for frying doughnuts is 370 to 375 degrees by the deep fat thermometer. If a thermometer isn't available, the proper temperature is that which will brown a bread cube in 60 seconds. A temperature test should be taken before each kettleful of doughnuts is fried.

Immediately after the doughnuts are browned and well puffed, they should be removed from the kettle to absorbent paper which will remove excess fat.

SOUR CREAM DOUGHNUTS
[Three dozen small]

3 cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
1 cup thick sour cream

Sift the dry ingredients together. Beat the eggs until thick and light. Add sugar and sour cream and beat well. Stir in the dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Chill the dough. [If dough is to be rolled immediately, more flour may be needed.] Roll out in small portions, one-fourth inch thick, using very little flour on the board. Cut out doughnuts and fry a few at a time in fat heated to 375 degrees. Drain, cool, and dip in granulated or confectioner's sugar.

ORANGE DOUGHNUTS
[Four dozen small]

4 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
¾ cup milk
½ cup orange juice
Grated rind of an orange

Sift dry ingredients together several times. Beat eggs until thick and light. Add sugar and shortening. Add flour mixture alternately with the liquids, beating well after each addition. Add grated orange rind. Turn dough onto floured board. [Chill it first, if possible.] Knead lightly and roll to ⅛ inch in thickness. Cut out doughnuts and fry in fat at 375 degrees [60 second bread cube test] until brown, turning once. Drain thoroughly on absorbent paper. These doughnuts may be sugared or iced with confectioner's frosting, if desired.

Plain doughnuts may be made from this recipe if the liquid is all milk and a teaspoonful of vanilla is substituted for the grated orange rind.

Flight of Swallows.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Flight of Swallows" is one of the many designs made from the old four patch patterns. Triangles always have been symbolic of birds in quilt lore, and it is especially easy to visualize swallows in quick flight as they are interpreted in this clever pieced pattern. A combination of pale blue and dark blue printed materials makes a most attractive coverlet, and carries the thought of dark blue birds against a blue sky. The block measures 12 inches square and 42 pieced blocks are set together to form an all over design. Surrounded by two borders, one 6 inches and the other 2 inches wide, the finished coverlet measures 88 by 100 inches.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

REDOUBLES.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The question of whether or not to redouble depends upon considerations of [1] vulnerability, [2] the amount of the contract, and [3] safety.

1. Vulnerability. Unless an overtrick can be made, the player gains no more by making a redoubled contract when vulnerable than when not vulnerable, but if defeated at a redoubled contract his vulnerable loss is twice as great. Greater caution in redoubling is therefore required when vulnerable.

2. Amount of contract. The higher the contract the greater the possible gain by redoubling. Three diamonds, if doubled and made, score 120 points; if redoubled, score 240 points, a gain of 120. If the contract is defeated, the vulnerable loss will be 400 points for the first trick instead of 200, a net loss of 200 points. In any close question a player stands to lose almost twice as much by redoubling a part-score contract and being defeated, as he can if he makes it.

TODAY'S HAND.

It is not often that a declarer can deliberately throw away a trick to extract a two-for-one repayment from the enemy. In the hand shown below, however, South managed that unusual feat and fulfilled a contract that was impossible by any other method.

North, dealer.

North-South vulnerable; 30 part-score.

NORTH
♠ Q 10 7 6
♦ K 8 7

WEST
♠ 8 5 3 2

♣ K Q J

SOUTH
♠ A K
♥ K Q J 10 8 2
♦ 4 3 2
♣ A 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 no trump	3 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

South considered his own vulnerability and 30 part-score sufficient reason for going out for game rather than doubling the nonvulnerable no trump for penalties.

Had West opened the jack of diamonds, the defeat of the contract would have been automatic, since the loss of three diamonds, one club, and one heart could not have been avoided. The ten of clubs opening lead, however, gave declarer the opportunity for a beautiful play. He won the first trick and laid down the heart king. East won and returned the king and queen of clubs. South followed to the first, and ruffed the second with the eight of hearts. Two more high trumps now disclosed that East had started with four, which gave declarer food for thought.

It was quite obvious that the diamond king would not stand up as an entry to dummy, hence to draw trumps and lead a diamond would virtually be surrendering three diamond tricks and the contract. [If declarer had cashed his high spades, drawn trumps, and led a diamond, West would merely have had to be careful to put up a high diamond so that his partner would not be thrown into an automatic end-play.]

On the logical assumption that, since East had held four hearts, the rest of his hand probably was divided 3-3-3, declarer saw a splendid avenue to his contract. He cashed the ace and king of spades and, instead of picking up East's nine of trumps, deliberately played the deuce in order to throw East on lead. After that play East was helpless. A spade return would concede two tricks to the dummy, whereas the lead of the ace and another diamond would have precisely the same effect.

Thus, conceding a trump trick, although such concession was totally unnecessary, he saved two tricks and the contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct opening bid on the following:

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

Walker school, Simsbury, Conn., and of Bryn Mawr college and is a member of the Junior league of Detroit. Mr. von Bergen, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. von Bergen of Kalmar, Sweden, is a graduate of Chalmers Technical institute of Gothenburg, Sweden. The wedding will take place sometime in July.

Mrs. Edwin Ruthven Moore Jr. has received news of the engagement of her friend, Miss Anne Iglehart Sanford of Baltimore, to Daniel Dugan of Catonsville, Md. Miss Sanford was one of the former Mary Clokey's bridesmaids at her wedding in the Edward Warren Everetts' garden in Hinsdale three years ago and has visited here since. Mrs. Moore will return from a trip to Europe this summer in time to be an attendant at the wedding in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore and his sister, Miss Marjorie Moore, a debutante of the last season, are leaving today for New York, where they will sail Saturday on the De Grasse. They are taking their car with them, and will motor through England. Then they will visit the Paris exposition, and will drive through France and Switzerland to the Italian lake district, visiting on the Italian Riviera and in Cannes before returning home by the Mediterranean route.

Mrs. Charles S. Reed and her sister, Miss Georgene Faulkner, are sailing from New York Wednesday on the Roma on a Mediterranean cruise. When they return to America late in August, they will visit in the east before coming to Chicago.

George W. Blossoms See Son Off to Europe Today.

The George W. Blossoms are seeing their son, George W. Blossom III, off for a summer in Europe today. He and several schoolmates, who were just graduated with him from Hotchkiss, are planning to take a bicycle trip through France. The Blossoms' elder daughter, Miss Louise Blossom, a debutante of the last season, was graduated from Sarah Lawrence college within a few days of her brother's graduation. Mr. and Mrs. Blossom, Miss Blossom, and Miss Barbara, the younger daughter, a student at the Putney school, are remaining in the east until the middle of July, when they will return to Lake Forest.

Starting today and reaching a climax next Sunday, the Illinois state tennis tournament will be played on the courts at the Skokie Country club. Wilmer Allison, former national champion; Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, seventh ranking woman, nationally; Miss Helen Fulton, and several other stars will take part.

Mrs. George Shields, Miss Dorelle Moulton, Miss Frances Orcott, Miss Grace Bull, and Miss Lucy Jane Hedburg are on the entertainment committee and are planning a dance for Wednesday night.

Francis North Departs to Climb Canadian Peaks.

Francis North is off on another mountain climbing expedition, this time at Lake Louise. Led by Georgia Engelhard, the party set off by pack train last week for Bow Lake, where several peaks are to be scaled.

From Bow Lake the party will go to the Freshfield range, where two months will be spent in attempts to establish records in some of the most difficult climbs in the Rockies. Other enthusiastic mountain climbers in the party are the senior and junior H. Eaton Cromwells of New York and Dr. J. M. Thorington of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Hill Blackett and her daughter and son, Miss Priscilla and Hill Jr., are sailing Wednesday on the Normandie for Europe. Mrs. Blackett and Hill will spend only three weeks in France, but Miss Blackett will remain abroad the entire summer, traveling with Mrs. Julia Collins, with whom she has been abroad the last three summers.

Mr. and Mrs. Holman D. Pettibone, also of Winnetka, and their children, Miss Georgia, Miss Jean, Barbara, and Richard, sailed Saturday on the Duchess of Atholl from Quebec, bound for England. Miss Georgia returned last week from Leland Stanford university, and Miss Jean returned from Bennington college. They will make a trip on the continent with two friends, Miss Suzanne Manierre of Milwaukee and Miss Sally Saunders of Minneapolis.

Miss Bell and Miss Hobart to Bicycle in Ireland.

Miss Helen Bell and Miss Virginia Hobart, who traveled abroad last summer, have sailed for Ireland to spend six weeks bicycling. They will visit England before returning to Winnetka in August.

Mrs. Rawleigh Warner and her daughters, Miss Mary, a Smith college student, and Miss Dorothy, a student at the Northampton School for Girls, have sailed to spend the summer in England, Scotland, and France, taking their car with them. Mr. Warner saw them off and then went to Princeton to attend his class reunion. He will join his family in London in July.

Mrs. David Dunbar of Wheaton and her son George, a student at Princeton, sailed Saturday from Quebec on the Empress of Britain to spend the summer abroad. They will visit London, the Scandinavian countries, and Paris.

Peter Kenly has returned from Princeton but his stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Kenly, will be brief for he is going soon to Ann Arbor to study at the University of Michigan.

Club Federation Cruise.

The Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs will take a dance cruise on the S. S. Theodore Roosevelt at 9:30 o'clock this evening. Mrs. Beulah Mayher is chairman.

KIDS! TODAY IS 2 CENT DAY at Riverview
WESTERN - BELMONT

Wear It from Dawn to Dark

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

From dawn to dusk this simple yet dressily attractive frock will stand by you nobly. You may wear it to the office, to lunch with your best beau on your noon hour, to the theater, tea parties and informal suppers. This frock takes particularly well to sheers, although other soft and lightweight summer materials will make up well, too. You should not overlook the possibilities of constant, cool comfort which the sheers afford, however. This season, as never before, sheers are "tops" in both style and convenience.

This pretty dress has a drawstring neckline and a sleeve band which echoes the neckline treatment. The sleeves may be either long or short. The shirring at the neck provides soft fullness in the bodice. The skirt has plenty of width achieved by means of clever paneling, as there are no plaits.

Plain shades and prints make up exceptionally well, but you really ought to make this frock in a striped sheer. The latter is especially fashionable this year.

Style No. 2848 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material, with half yard of 39 inch contrasting for the sash.

Third Presbyterian's 90th Birthday Brings Ex-Members Back

Old time members of Third Presbyterian church, Ashland and Ogden avenues, came yesterday from all sections of Chicago as well as from distant points to help present members of the church celebrate the congregation's 90th birthday. The anniversary sermon was delivered at the morning service by the Rev. Martin D. Hardin Jr., assistant pastor of First Presbyterian church, New York City. The Rev. Mr. Hardin joined old Third church in 1915, when his father, the Rev. Martin D. Hardin, was pastor. Last night's service, led by the Rev. Dr. Alvyn R. Hickman, pastor of Third church, was devoted to reminiscences. He pointed out that Third church has at least one person who has held continuous membership in the congregation for seventy-one years. He referred to Mrs. J. E. Downs, 610 South Ashland avenue.

Deodorant Is Necessity in Warm Season

The use of a deodorant or an odor neutralizer no longer is a summer necessity alone. It has an all year 'round "must," and has come to be regarded as such by every meticulous person. Its use is, of course, of paramount importance during the torrid weather. Without an article of this kind in your cabinet, it is next to impossible to keep yourself fresh and dainty. A bath a day, even two, will not give you the assurance of daintiness you need when the weather is hot and humid and you find yourself perspiring freely.

There are two types of fresheners, deodorants and nonperspirants. The purpose of the deodorant is to neutralize odors. It does not check perspiration. The second article is known as a nonperspirant. It does double duty. It not only checks perspiration but in doing so just naturally eliminates any unpleasant odor, getting right down to checking the source of the trouble. There has been some prejudice against the nonperspirant for the reason that it does check perspiration, one of the normal functions of the body. On the other hand, there are numbers who are loud in their praise, feeling they couldn't get along without a nonperspirant.

There is a difference in the way the two types of products are used. A deodorant may be applied at any time with satisfactory results. The nonperspirant, because of its astringent qualities, does not become effective at once. Hence it usually is applied before going to bed. Another thing to keep in mind in connection with the nonperspirant is that it should not be used immediately following shaving or after a depilatory has been used. If you do there is apt to be a skin irritation.

The importance of the use of an article of this kind can't be stressed too highly. You want to be thought of as a meticulous, well groomed person. Without these aids you can't give that impression, regardless of how well turned out you may otherwise be.

"Save the brush and spoil the hair" is a subtitle in the helpful booklet by Antoinette Donnelly, "Bring Out the Beauty in Your Hair." On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. By postpaid mail, 7 cents.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

LONDON.—[Special.]—Just a few days ago the first makeup bar in all of England was opened in a London department store and created a sensation. It was launched by a house which has two large pink and green bars in Chicago. The powers that be wondered long and nervously about the reception they would get from the traditionally conservative English woman.

They needn't have. The novelty of powder and rouge blending and instruction in the art of makeup attracted the women in droves, even those women who still think it's a little on the vulgar side to powder your nose in public. They gathered 'round the little bar like wide-eyed children and marveled at the American art of glorifying the face.

They were fascinated by the small scales used to blend powder to exactly the right tint and texture and could hardly believe their own eyes at the sight of drawer after drawer of powder tints, ranging from deep, deep tan to lavender for evening!

And they nearly swooned on hearing of such things as amethyst mascara and jade green eye shadow. But they lined up for a makeup and were childishly charmed with the results of their introduction to the really artistic makeup.

A large group of English women use nothing but vanishing cream and face powder—a nice genteel rice powder in a nice, genteel shade. They don't know what a really exciting makeup is like—but they're learning.

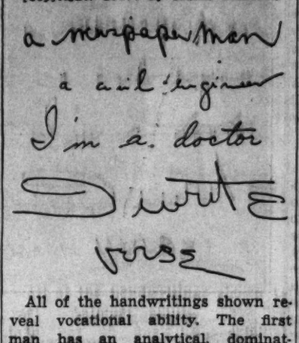
Explains Help of Graphology in Vocation Field

Various Abilities Are Used in Same Careers.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]



All of the handwritings shown reveal vocational ability. The first man has an analytical, dominating mentality. His personality is magnetic and his outlook on life practical. In his particular branch of newspaper work he used all of these qualities to good advantage. Now he is using the same qualities in business where he must contact people constantly and watch finances carefully at the same time. He is using his magnetism, his executive ability, his analytical mind, and his practical common sense in different work.

The second writer is a civil engineer from Rio de Janeiro, and a very brilliant man as you can see from his small, rapid, broken-up writing, made with the "g" of culture.

The third writer, the doctor, is a general practitioner with all the amiability and kindliness that such a man often needs. He is a deliberate sort of person and very patient. He would do especially well as a children's doctor, but he would probably be unsuccessful as a surgeon.

The fourth writer said that she wrote poetry—"but not very much." It is certainly a cultured writing with much intuition but it looks more dramatic than literary, because of the size and flowing quality. She mentioned, then, that she had also been on the stage.

Your Handwriting Analyzed

1. Send sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune, post-office box 1720.
3. Inclose a self-addressed, STAMPED envelope, folded once.

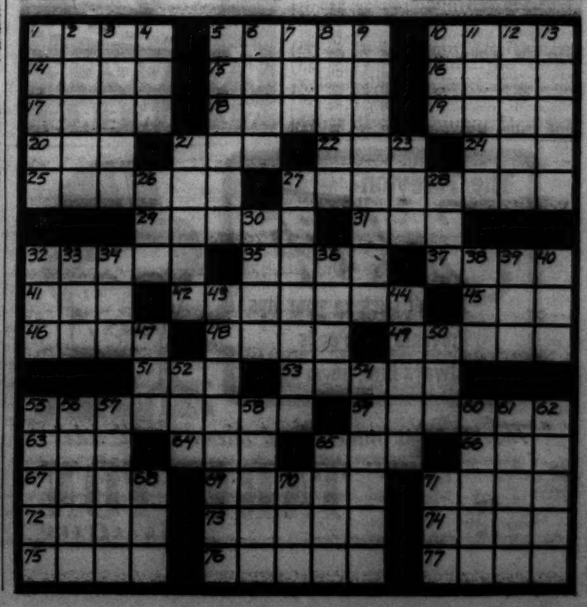
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



SCHOOLS PROVIDE STRONG BUSINESS TRAINING COURSE

Series of Classes Answer White Collar Demand.

[This is the final story of a series on Chicago's public school system by Seymour Korman, in which he has told how the schools are following the modern educational trends which place emphasis on courses that will help the pupil to make a living after graduation.]

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Responding to the demand in business for young men and women who have special training in addition to a general educational background, the Chicago public high schools offer a series of commercial courses as one division of the comprehensive vocational instruction system. The classes for white collar workers have been as widely developed in the last few years as have the courses in the technical arts and the basic trades.

During the last year nearly 40,000 boys and girls took on one more commercial courses in thirty-four Chicago high schools, and 7,000 adults attended these classes in six evening schools. Intensive training in commercial work is given at the Washburne trade school, many part time business employés being enrolled there.

Equipped to Go to Work.

Benjamin J. Knauss, director of commercial studies in the high schools, said that many of the students completing the full courses are equipped to step into business offices the day they get their diplomas.

The board of education maintains a placement bureau for commercial course graduates, and the 500 teachers who conduct the business classes have many contacts for placing pupils, often receiving several requests from the same employer. Last January and February, 466 students who had completed special business training work at the Washburne school were hired by commercial concerns.

"Even the student who does not plan to go into business will profit greatly by taking some of these courses," Mr. Knauss said, "for he will get a good consumer education."

Included in Business Courses.

The business courses given include shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, salesmanship, elementary business training, business organization, commercial geography, calculating machine operation, commercial law, clerical practice and economics.

In the shorthand classes, the students are taught the Isaac Pitman system. They study theory and then take dictation, usually attaining a speed of from 80 to 100 words a minute. In previous years the Munson shorthand system was taught in the regular high schools and the Munson and Gregg systems in the evening classes, but now the standardized instruction is in Pitman.

There are more than 5,500 typewriters in class use in the high schools. Pupils are taught the touch system and transcribe their shorthand notes. Most of the students average between 30 and 60 words a minute in typewriting.

In the bookkeeping course, students are instructed in the double entry system, the drawing of balance sheets, profit and loss statements and schedules. They learn the different accounting methods for single proprietorships, partnerships and corporations. At the Washburne school and at Harrison Technical High school, they work with bookkeeping and billing machines.

The salesmanship course includes general selling education, store management, advertising and merchandising. The students learn the points of value in the products they are to sell and are taught to develop favorable personality traits to interest purchasers. At the Washburne school, 30 students in the last year studied retail selling at morning classes and were employed by loop stores during the afternoons.

General Training Offered.

Elementary business training is a foundational subject, giving the students general vocational information about banking, budgeting, insurance, advertising, communication and transportation. In the business organization classes, pupils are taught the elements of business finance and the setups of stock and bond issues.

Commercial geography, a course in which students study maps and draw them, is as much a sociological as a business subject. The world's production and the geographical factors that enter into trade and economic balances are discussed and analyzed.

Comptometers and Burroughs calculators are used in the course in calculating machines. The students are instructed in the application of these machines to business processes, such as billing and figuring discounts and percentages. In commercial law classes basic information is given in the laws of contracts, partnerships, corporations, trademarks and patents with supplementary study in what constitutes monopolies and trusts.

A clerical practice course given at Washburne includes typewritten transcription from dictaphones, and the use of ditto machines, mimeographs and filing devices.

The economics course deals with the theory and practice of contracts, international trade and exchange and the relations of labor and capital.

A central commercial high school, which will accommodate 1,200 students, is now planned in the old Jones school building, at Harrison street and Plymouth court. The building is being remodeled and the school is expected to be in operation this fall.

HAILED AS A HERO

Robert Henry, 13, shown with his dog, demonstrates how he wielded a bottle to knock out prisoner battling with policeman.

Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Sheffield avenue station said last night he would send a letter to Robert Henry, 13 years old, a Boy Scout, personally thanking him for his heroic help in subduing Charles Miller, a suspected motorcycle thief. Henry, son of the owner of the North Town hotel, 555 Barry avenue, saw Miller Saturday night in a desperate struggle with Policeman Harold Brown for posssession of Brown's gun. Brown had just arrested Miller. The boy promptly went to Brown's aid by hitting Miller on the head with a bottle, knocking him out. Miller later tried to hang himself in his cell.

Percy Straus.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—Jewels valued at $50,000 were stolen from the country home of Percy S. Straus, president of the big New York department store firm of R. H. Macy & Co., near the suburban town of Rye, today.

The theft provided an expensive sequel to a dinner party held last night in celebration of the merchant's 61st birthday. It occurred some time between the departure of the last of the guests, around midnight, and 4 o'clock, when Mr. Straus awoke to find ajar the door leading from his bedroom on the second floor of the three story mansion to a bathroom.

Inspection of the premises indicated that the burglar had shinnied up a concrete pillar of the front porch to a second floor balcony and then cut a screen covering the open window of Mr. Straus' bathroom, thus gaining access to the closet in which the jewels were kept.

TWO CHICAGOANS DROWN WHILE ON OUTINGS

Two Chicagoans were drowned yesterday while on outings in northern Illinois. They were John Donovan Bohr, 33 years old, a dentist attached to the state hospital for the insane at Dunning, 6500 Irving Park boulevard, and Leo Calderone, 36, 3012 West Jackson boulevard.

Dr. Bohr, who has an office at 732 North Austin boulevard, was drowned in Wauconda lake in Lake county after he had rescued B. O. Russell Jr., 8 years old, 4106 Irving Park boulevard, from drowning.

Bohr's body was not recovered for fifty-five minutes. Dr. J. A. Ross of Wauconda worked over him an hour, but failed to revive him.

Calderone was drowned while swimming in the Fox river near Crystal lake in McHenry county.

A twenty hour search by most of the firemen and policemen of Summit ended yesterday when they recovered the body of Russell McCurdy, 8 years old, from the Des Plaines river, in Summit. He was a son of Chester McCurdy of the Summit fire department. The boy was drowned Saturday afternoon.

SOX WIN, 5-3, TAKE 2D PLACE; CUBS LOSE TWO

C. Y. O. BOXERS TO FIGHT SOUTH AMERICAN CHAMPIONS

MILK FUND TO PROFIT FROM BOUTS AUG. 25

Argentine Olympic Stars on Team.

The amateur boxing champions of South America will meet the Catholic Youth organization's best fighters in an international match at Soldiers field on the night of Aug. 25, the Most Rev. B. J. Sheil, director general of the C. Y. O. announced yesterday. The profits of the show will go to the C. Y. O.'s milk fund, which provides for underprivileged children during the summer months.

There will be sixteen bouts on the program. Eight of South America's representatives will be the champions of Argentina. The other eight will be chosen from nine other countries and three possessions, British Guiana, French Guiana, and Dutch Guiana. The other nations include Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Peru, Uruguay, Paraguay, Venezuela, Bolivia, and Ecuador.

Plan Bowl in Stadium.

An ideal setup, which will give spectators an unobstructed view of the ring, will be constructed in the south end of the lake front arena. Work on the ringside will begin about Aug. 5 and will be completed a few days before the show.

It will be the first Chicago appearance of an amateur boxing squad from the southern continent. Five European teams, in addition to the all-Europe squad which fought in the Chicago Stadium this year, have appeared in Chicago against the Golden Gloves squad under the auspices of The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. They were France, Germany, Ireland, Poland, and Italy.

Argentina is expected to send a strong team. It made an impressive showing in recent Olympic games, winning two championships in the 1928 tournament, one in 1932 at Los Angeles and one last year in Germany. Victorio Casanova captured the featherweight title in the 1936 Olympics, while in the 1932 meet Carmelo Robledo won the 126 pound championship. In 1938 Victorio Avendano won the light heavyweight crown and Santiago Lovell took the heavyweight championship.

Fight in Texas.

Argentina's champions and the eight others who will be selected soon will stop off at Dallas, Tex., en route to Chicago to appear in a match arranged by Pan-American Exposition officials.

The Chicago fighters will go into training about Aug. 10 at the Holy Name Technical school, Lockport, Ill. Approximately 65 boxers will train daily under the direction of Head Coach Paddy Kane and his assistants, Dick Fitzpatrick and Scotty Walton. Two rings will be set up in an airplane hangar on the school grounds.

Among those who will seek places on the squad are Frank Kainrath, who recently appeared with the Golden Gloves team which fought the European champions to a draw: Chester Rutecki, Tom Kenneally, Savior Candeo, Al Scarlata, Hiner Thomas, Jake Lampkins, Joe and Ed O'Connell, Will Goldsmith, Tony Motisi and Walter Cavalier.

The international matches will replace the annual intercity bouts with New York. The Chicagoans triumphed over New York twice. The C. Y. O. won, 10 bouts to 6, in 1935 at Wrigley field before 35,000 and last year beat the easterners, 11 to 5, at Soldiers' field before 38,000.

THERE'S SPEED TO BURN TODAY AT ARLINGTON

Count Morse Is Likely Handicap Favorite.

BY FRENCH LANE.

One thing to prepare for at today's opening of the Arlington Park Jocky club's annual summer race season is speed and lots of it.

Otto W. Lehmann.

This speed will come in the renewal of the $5,000 Inaugural handicap at 7 furlongs for the obvious reason that it has attracted sixteen of the fastest horses in training. With weights arranged from 103 pounds up to 130 it is just the sort of a dazzling contest that might bring about a new record. That, indeed, would be something for the first day visitors to write home about.

It was over this same seven furlong course two years ago that Clang, carrying 105 pounds, hung up the present world's record of 1:22. And until Clang ran that smashing race very little ever had been heard about him. After that he went on to make turf history.

They've Got Plenty of Speed.

The tremendous speed of most of the candidates in today's $5,000 battle has been well established. Every one in the big opening day crowd today knows that such stars as Count Morse, the present leader of the western handicap division; Sir Emerson the Texas flyer; Finance, winner of five races in a row at Arlington last season; Preeminent, one of Kentucky's speediest horses; Murph, from the stable of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, and Deliberator, shipped on here from New York a few days ago, can take care of themselves as far as speed is concerned in any sort of a squabble.

Hal Price Headley named Whopper and Fraidy Cat as running companions for Preëminent, but it is quite likely he will withhold the giant Whopper for a try at the Stars and Stripes handicap, to be run one week from today.

Count Morse Likely Favorite.

It is expected that Count Morse will go to the post as the favorite in the Inaugural at 3 to 1 and that Mrs. Emil Denemark's entry of Finance, Prairie Dog, Orientalist, and Higher Cloud will be the second choice at 7 to 2 with the Headley entry third in line.

Four successive stake victories, the first at Keeneland, the second at Churchill Downs and the last two at Washington Park have indicated that Count Morse may be the best handicap horse of the year. These four victories all were scored at distances of more than a mile. He has led in most of them from start to finish. Thus the sprint test today should not be to his disadvantage.

After inventor Jimmy Jones gave his new camera finish creation, which he has called the Lightning Eye, a public test yesterday afternoon with President Otto W. Lehmann and other officials of the Arlington Park Jocky club and several hundred track visitors looking on, the house was in order for the beginning of a season today. In general interest the Arlington Park meeting will outdo any other in the country.

Powerful Stables Represented.

The month's racing will bring representatives from such powerful stables as Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, Warren Wright, Woolford farm, Bomar stable, Hal Price Headley, Col. Edward R. Bradley, M. L. Emerick, Mrs. John Hertz, Charles T. Fisher, J. H. Whitney, C. V. Whitney, Mrs. Emil Denemark, Joseph E. Widener, William Woodward, Valdina farms, Corsicana stable, King's Ranch, Miss Mary Hirsch and many others. It is bound to produce most of the country's divisional leaders for the year.

WINN QUALIFIES AT 81 M. P. H. FOR VANDERBILT RACE

Westbury, N. Y., June 27.—(AP)—Billy Winn of Detroit today qualified for Saturday's George Vanderbilt cup auto race when he combined three speed trials in one 30 mile dash today over the Roosevelt raceway.

Winn was clocked at an average of 81.079 in his Miller special. Never below 81 miles an hour on any lap, Winn drove well on the curves, and was clocked at 132.1 miles an hour on the straightaway.

A crowd of 12,000 watched Winn qualify and got its biggest thrill when the Detroit driver outraced Attilion Marinoni, chief test driver for the Alfa-Romeo team, in a 25 mile duel. Marinoni gained on the straightaways, but Winn more than made up for it on the turns.

Rex Mays, California, turned in a brilliant 10 mile trial at an average speed of 84.459 miles per hour as other American drivers went through qualification tests before the arrival of the German and Italian drivers tomorrow morning. Mays' fastest lap, 84.698, was a new course record.

Others who went through official 10 mile trials but did not complete qualification were:

Gus Zarka, Philadelphia, who averaged 74.841 and 74.587 in two trials; Jimmy Snyder, Chicago, who averaged 76.383 and 76.752 in two trials; Ora Bean, Philadelphia, 79.804, and Deacon Litz, Dubois, Pa., 79.979.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Arlington Park Jocky club opens its annual meeting this afternoon. There always has been special interest to the racing each summer at Arlington. Purses have been higher than at other tracks, the best horses have performed there and the finest type of sportsmen have visited the track to see champion horses strive for national laurels.

This year there is more importance than ever attached to the Arlington Park season. It easily can be the turning point in the affairs of Chicago horse racing. Chicago tracks offering the sport's best attractions have not always been given the support they expected. For one reason or another, attendance has been falling off. At the same time we know there are more race followers and more people in Chicago who speculate on the races than in any other American city, with the possible exception of New York.

We have it from one of Arlington Park's leading officials that if the track loses money on its nonprofit meeting this year, the plant either will be closed or operated under a different management next summer.

Talking It Over.

JACK DEMPSEY was in tears after Braddock was knocked out, but we can understand it. . . . He had picked Jimmy to win. . . . Quite a few of the boys felt that way the night Schmeling knocked out Louis. . . . Watching Dempsey come to the ringside with his charming wife, both receiving an enthusiastic welcome, it was hard to believe that 20 years ago, when he first visited Chicago, Jack was little more than a hobo. . . . He registered at the Morrison hotel with his manager, Jack Kearns, in 1917, but conditions were so discouraging financially that Jack left Kearns at the hotel and trekked to the west side, where he got a room for $3 a week. . . . He now is almost universally recognized as the most spectacular figure the ring has developed. . . .

University of Iowa's football coaching staf is making no predictions for the coming season, but Irl Tubbs, Pat Boland, or Ernie Nevers will bet that Minnesota doesn't beat Iowa, 52 to 0, and you can name the odds. . . . Melvin Purvis, former G-man, is being considered for the position of commissioner of the Pacific Coast conference. . . . If it hadn't been for John L. Herman, a newsreel cameraman, Wilbur Shaw would not have won the Indianapolis automobile race. . . . Just before the start the cameraman asked Shaw to lift the engine cowling and pose for a shot. . . . Shaw impatiently obliged and the incident resulted in his finding a loose ignition wire. . . . If it had not been noticed, an extra trip to the pits would have been necessary. . . . Shaw beat Ralph Hepburn by only 50 yards, so it is likely the loss of time would have been the difference between winning and losing. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—The Chicago White Sox scored three runs in the ninth inning to nose out Cleveland, 8 to 7. . . . It was reported that a group of sportsmen were trying to induce Tex Rickard to hold the Gene Tunney championship fight in Chicago. . . . Eddie Grabowski, Lane Tech baseball star, was signed by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Schumacher Whips Held for Trans-Mississippi Title

Denver, Colo., June 27.—(AP)—Don Schumacher of Dallas won the trans-Mississippi golf championship today by defeating Eddie Held, St. Louis veteran and twice former champion, 1 up, in 36 holes. Schumacher dropped a three foot putt for a birdie 4 on the 36th hole to win. He had to come from behind, as Held posted a 4 hole lead at the 18th and was still two up after 27 holes.

LYONS DEFEATS SENATORS FOR SOX'S 6TH IN ROW

Two Homers Help Keep Ted in Front.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—The White Sox attached style and elegance to the concluding chores of their eastern trip today. They knocked the wadding out of a pair of enemy pitchers, and when old Ted Lyons needed some help afield, they were able to provide it. This combination of offense and defense was enough to hoist the gay Chicagoans to a sweep of the three-game series with the Senators and to their sixth triumph in a row. The score was 5 to 3. The victory also gave the sox undisputed possession of second place.

Just by way of starting off where they quit in the ninth yesterday and to assure themselves their seventh victory in 13 games on the road, after dropping the first four at Boston, the Sox gave Jimmy De Shong the boot in the first inning and were never headed. They scored two runs during that pleasing inaugural session. Then a bit later Zeke Bonura hit homer No. 12, a tremendous poke, and still later Jack Hayes uncovered his season's first home run. It was a drive inside the park, with a mate on base in the fifth. This was where De Shong resigned.

Lyons Weakens Near End.

Lyons, while piecing together his fifth victory of the season, was a talented workman until toward the close. The Senators couldn't score on him until the seventh when rain was pattering down and apparently causing discomfort. In the first half of the eighth, the rain developed into a downpour and a half hour wait was necessary. The rest apparently didn't help the 36 year old youngster. He was bumped in the eighth, being saved by a double play. A double play in the seventh also assisted him. Then in the ninth, he encountered three hits for two runs, but wriggled through.

Sox Score Two in First.

The Sox's profitable first inning began with a single to right by Radcliff. De Shong slapped down a drive by Kreevich and threw him out at first. Walker fouled to Lewis for the second out. Bonura was hit by a pitched

Sewell and Stratton Named to American All-Star Team

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the American league All-Star team which will vie with the National league All-Stars at Washington July 7, last night released the players who will seek to avenge last year's American league defeat by Charlie

Luke Sewell.

Monty Stratton.

Grimm's Nationals at Boston.

The rules of player selection varied this year more than at any time since the spectacle was originated and sponsored by THE TRIBUNE in 1933 in that this year's selections were made without any guidance from the nation's fans as to whom they considered the game's real stars.

Sewell, Stratton on Squad.

This year the naming of the squads was placed in the hands of the managers, whose recommendations the All-Star manager was privileged to reject if he pleased.

The White Sox will be represented by two players, Catcher Luke Sewell and Pitcher Monty Stratton. The fact that there was no fan balloting this year plainly is reflected in the absence of Luke Appling's name from the roster. Appling was the major league batting champion and Sox fans generally had supposed that Luke's prestige, if nothing else, would get him a place on this year's squad.

Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox is McCarthy's selection to fill the shortstop job, which many believed would fall to Appling, especially since Luke recently has been hitting. The biggest surprise in McCarthy's list of infielders was Red Rolfe of his own Yankees.

Yankees Lead with Five.

The Yankees, with five, have more representatives in the All-Star cast than any other team. Four Red Sox, four Tigers, and three Senators are on McCarthy's team. Chicago, Cleveland, and St. Louis will have two representatives and Philadelphia one.

The roster follows:

CATCHERS—William Dickey, New York; Richard Ferrell, Washington; Luke Sewell, Chicago.

MANAGER—Joseph V. McCarthy, New York.

TRAINER—Mike Martin, Washington.

BATTING PRACTICE PITCHER—Dave Keefe, Philadelphia.

BATTING PRACTICE CATCHER—John Schulte, New York.

Ross Knocks Out Jackie Burke in the Fifth Round

Approximately 4,000 spectators paid $5,000 to see the battle.

Jose de Capriles Wins 3 Exposition Fencing Titles

CHICAGO'S LEAD CUT AS DODGERS TRIUMPH, 8-3, 6-3

Hamlin Yields Three Hits in 2d Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Pennant palsy, a severe but not incurable malady which seizes baseball pacesetters after they have led too long on too short a margin, yesterday beset the Cubs with such violence that they took two shellackings from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8 to 3, in a sloppy first game, and 6 to 3 in the second, in which they made only three hits, including a triple and a homer by Bill Herman.

The double collapse was witnessed by 36,393 paying guests, the largest Wrigley field crowd of the season. And it made it three victories in two days for the Dodgers. Observers with very long whiskers cannot recall when the Dodgers previously took a series at Wrigley field, but it goes back to the early days of Wilbert Robinson's régime.

It's Close, Mates.

Despite the aforesaid strokes of palsy, the Cubs still cling to the league leadership, but by the skimpiest of margins. The standings this morning are:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	36	24	.600
St. Louis	35	24	.593
New York	36	25	.590

Interpreted, this means that a half game plus three percentage points, separates the first three pennant contenders.

Van Mungo was the winning pitcher in the first game, his ninth victory of the season. It was a soft touch for the big speedballer, seeing as Larry French, shoved by Rip Collins, spotted him three runs in the second inning. Mungo struck out six to lift his season total to 101.

Luke Hamlin registered his fourth victory of the season in the second game and, excepting Herman, pitched the Cubs dizzy throughout. The only hit besides Herman's homer and triple was a single by Galan.

Pitching Goes Bad.

The Cub pitching for the most part was rather sour. Three gents worked in the second game. French, who started the first game, pitched and gave up a run in the ninth inning of the second game. Charley Root was the losing pitcher in the second game.

Thus the Cubs finished their home stand with a record of five defeats and six victories. Very contrasty, considering they won 10 and lost three on their last road trip.

FIRST GAME

When French breezed through the first inning of the first game with the greatest of ease, his constituents hoped he was off to one of his good days. This hope survived until the second inning.

Manush opened the second inning with a single and advanced on Phelps' sacrifice. Lavagetto tripled to right center, scoring Manush. Jurges took Cooney's grounder and held Lavagetto on third before throwing out Cooney. English grounded to French, and Collins, doubtless thrilled by the large crowd, sought to make a Fancy Dan catch of Larry's perfect throw. Rip's maneuver was more graceful than skilled; the ball went right through his hands. Lavagetto scored and English reached second. Collins' ludicrous error obviously upset French, who promptly pitched a single to Mungo, English scoring, and a double to Brack, on which Mungo went to third. At this point Manager Grimm decided the proud Larry had suffered enough and excused him, sending forth Parmelee. Jurges threw out Stripp.

Double Play Helps.

The first of the third was another nervous session, but netted only one Dodger run, thanks to a double play. Hassett and Manush singled to get the inning under way. Phelps sacrificed and when Parmelee threw past Collins, Hassett scored and Manush reached third. Lavagetto grounded to Jurges and Manush was out between third and home, Jurges to O'Dea. Phelps and Lavagetto moved up on a wild pitch and Cooney walked, filling the bases. English hit into a double play, Herman to Jurges to Collins.

The Cubs got going in their third after Jurges and Parmelee had supplied infield outs. Galan singled and scored on Herman's double to left. Herman scored on Collins' hot single off Hassett's glove. Demaree singled to left, Collins stopping momentarily at second. When Brack's throw in got past English at third, Collins apparently failed to notice that Mungo was backing up the play and tried for third. Mungo tossed to Stripp to get Rip and halt the rally.

Dodgers Break Loose.

The next scoring spectacle was in the seventh when the Dodgers made four runs after two were out. Three walks, a double by Manush and singles by Lavagetto and English were factors in the sad session.

A pinch double by Cavarretta and a single by Herman in the eighth accounted for the third Cub run.

JUST SEND YOUR SWIMMING ENTRY TO THE TRIBUNE

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Mail your entry to THE TRIBUNE.

This is the only cost for all boys and girls who wish to compete in the eighth annual Chicagoland free style 100 yard swimming races.

There is no entry fee. No matter where you live, or your age, you may race at any one of the four sectional meets for the gold qualifying medals which will permit competition in the championship at Whealan park July 8.

July 11—Whealan pool, Milwaukee and Devon avenues.

July 11—California park, 3901 North California avenue.

There are five age classes for boys and five for girls. It has been proved by previous competition that these groupings offer fair trials and the only rule for the meet provides that a champion cannot compete again in the same class in which his title was won.

380 Preliminary Prizes.

Each contestant receives a souvenir bronze badge and each preliminary race winner (in addition to the gold qualifying medals) is awarded a prize. There are 380 preliminary prizes in addition to several thousand souvenir buttons. Thirty gold, silver and bronze medals and two team trophies are the awards which will be presented at Whealan pool July 18.

Within a few days after your entry is received, a postcard will be mailed in return. This will furnish information on time to report, the time of the first race, and your contestant's number. This card must be brought to the meet. It will permit you to enter the park or pool without a fee.

It also entitles you to locker space.

Run Off on Two Days.

The four preliminaries will be run on two days to facilitate conduct of the meet. Located in four sections of the city or immediate suburb, the sectionals make competition as easy as possible. Naturally you should enter the section nearest your home. But you may compete at any.

Swimmers should report at the sectional at 1 o'clock for registration and assignment to heats. The races at each pool will begin at 1 o'clock.

Members of the Tribune Athletic association, who annually conduct the Silver Skate derbies, Golden Gloves bouts, and assist in press arrangements and other details of the All-Star football game, will supervise the swimming races. The races, as usual, will be held with the approval of the Amateur Athletic union and in accord with the rules of the organization. Team entries may be made by coach, manager, or instructor. The names may be listed by age groups, but the home address of each boy and girl must be given so that acceptance cards can be mailed in reply.

SPARTAS DEFEAT CALUMET PARK IN FIELD DAY FINAL

The Sparta Garden City defeated Calumet Park, 3 to 0, yesterday in the feature event of their second annual field day. Eight teams took part in the contest, with the results in the various rounds as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

Hungarians, 2 goals; Bratislava, 2 corners.

Sparta Garden City, 1; Macabees, 0.

SEMI-FINALS.

Calumet Park, 2; Oak Park, 1.

Sparta Garden City, 3; Hungarians, 0.

In the final between the Sparta and Calumet Park both teams played on even terms in the first period, but Vicek scored two goals and Rezak one in the second half to win for Sparta.

ALLISON SEEDED NO. 1 IN ILLINOIS TENNIS TOURNEY

Headed by Wilmer Allison, former national champion, the Illinois state tennis tournament will open at the Skokie Country club this afternoon.

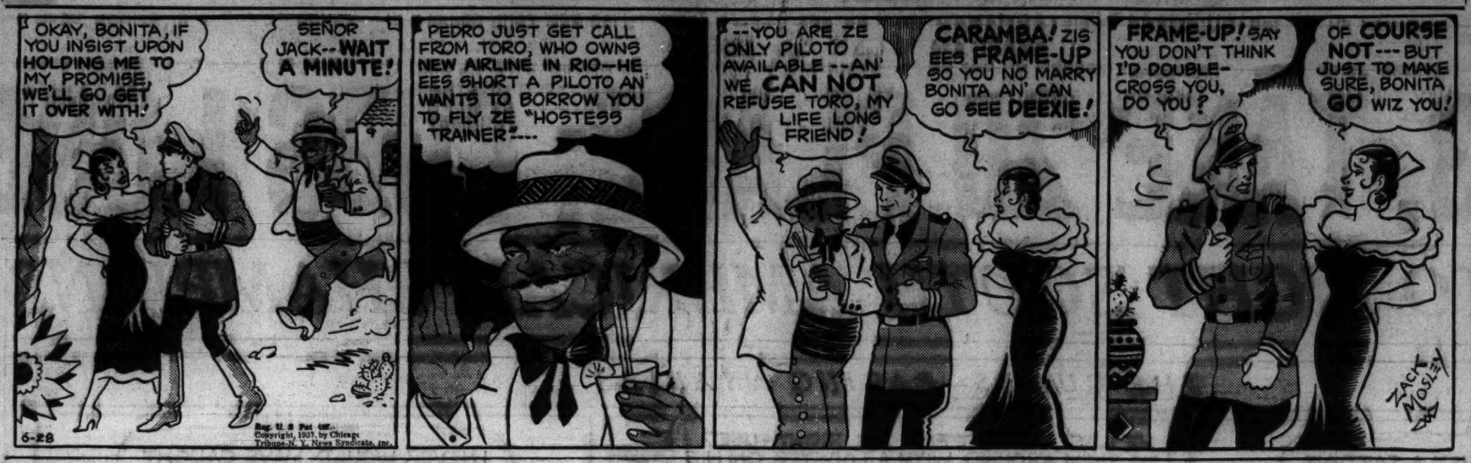
SMILIN' JACK—JACK'S SHADOW



300 to Take Golf Cruise Wednesday

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Outstanding event of the Chicago district golf program this week will be the fifteenth annual Cruise day, invitational tournament of the Butterfield Country club. The tourney, one of the oldest in the section, was scheduled to have been held June 9, but was postponed until this Wednesday because of a terrific downpour of rain. Thomas L. Grace, chairman of the sports and pastimes committee, and Manager Andy Anderson are expecting a field of 300 to compete.

Chicago lodge No. 4 of the Elks will hold its annual golf tournament and outing Wednesday at the Bunker Hill Country club. An exhibition foursome composed of Russ Martin, Chick Evans, Henry Hafer, and K. D. Farwell will begin play at 2:30 p. m. The day's activities are in charge of H. E. Eckland and Bernard S. Skor.

The thirty-fourth annual Midlothian Pater-Filius competition will be held at the Midlothian Country club on July 8. The Pater-Filius, which pairs fathers and sons from member clubs of the United States, Western, Chicago district, and other sectional golf organizations, is one of the unique events of the game.

This year's Pater-Filius will witness a departure in the method of play. Instead of 36 holes of play, nine holes will be decided in the morning and 18 in the afternoon. The team showing low net for the 27 holes will be awarded the trophy for one year. A prize will be given to the 27 hole low gross scorers, a net award for the morning nine and another for the afternoon eighteen.

The entry fee of $10 a team includes luncheon and the annual Pater-Filius dinner at the club. Entry blanks may be secured from the C. D. G. A. headquarters in room 1821 of the La Salle hotel, or from the Midlothian club.

The Illinois State women's golf championship opens at Elgin today with the most competent field in the event's four year history entered. Approximately 100 will compete. Among the outstanding contenders for the title now held by Mrs. Virginia Vilas Norton of Glenview are two former state champions, Dorothy Foster of Springfield and Hilda Livengood of Danville. The tournament will start with 18 holes of qualifying play today, with the matches starting tomorrow.

Entries for the annual championship of the Chicago Women's District Golf association, to be held at the Edgewood Valley Country club from July 26 through July 31, will close at 6 p. m. July 22. Entries should be forwarded to Mrs. J. P. Hammond, treasurer, 6020 Drexel avenue. Fee for nonmembers is $5. C. W. D. G. A. members will not be required to pay any entry fee. The tournament is open to all women golfers with handicaps ranging from scratch to 28 strokes.

Butterfield Country club will hold a ladies' guest day tomorrow. The program will consist of golf in the morning, luncheon, and bridge in the afternoon.

The tenth annual Knights of Columbus state tournament, the largest fraternal order golf event in the country, will be played on July 14 at the Olympia Fields Country club. The individual champions of 64 councils throughout the state will compete for the Fred B. Snite trophy. Only amateur members will be eligible for the award this year.

Fred B. Snite Sr., donor of the major trophy and father of the iron lung patient who recently returned to Chicago, has shipped 1,000 umbrellas, cigaret boxes, and other items from China to be distributed to those in attendance at this year's event.

U.S. Ryder Cup Golfers Find Range in Trials

SOUTHPORT, England, June 27.—(AP)—America's Ryder cup golfers, baffled by the narrow, misshapen fairways and high winds of the Southport and Ainsdale course for three days, suddenly hit top form today and appeared practically ready for the foursomes competition against Great Britain Tuesday.

Alarmed by the recent showings of his players, Capt. Walter Hagen shuffled his lineup and produced what looked like a winning combination. He paired the unpredictable Gene Sarazen with the steady Denny Shute, the rookie Byron Nelson with the veteran Ed Dudley, and the long driving Ralph Guldahl with Tony Manero, who has been pitching and putting brilliantly.

Teams Snead and Smith.

Then he teamed Sam Snead with Horton Smith, whose distance is a handicap rather than an advantage on the hard fairways.

Dudley and Nelson, playing against the rejuvenated Hagen, who will not play in the international matches, looked the best of the lot. Playing alternate shots, as demanded in the cup Scotch foursomes, they produced a score of 68, four under par, to score a 2 and 1 victory over Hagen, who had a 69.

In the other Scotch foursomes, played in dead earnest, Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, who won the international four ball matches three times in a row, defeated Sarazen and Shute by one hole. Snead and Smith, who had been almost counted out of the foursomes, came back to beat Guldahl and Manero, two up. Despite this victory it is thought Smith and Snead will be on the sidelines Tuesday while the other teams play as paired today.

Britons Keep Quiet.

The Britons are being canny about practice. Not once have they practiced in pairs, and the Royal and Ancient Golf club captain, Charles Whitcombe, hasn't opened his mouth since arriving.

Henry Cotton still is the best looking golfer on both teams and at the moment even the Americans doubt if there's a man who can beat him at thirty-six holes. After that, however, even patriotic British writers admit unofficially they think the Americans are the best, man for man.

ZALE TAKES 40 LAP MIDGET RACE; 2 HURT IN CRASH

Wally Zale, central states champion, won the 40 lap final on the midget auto racing card at Riverview speedway last night. He led his nearest competitor, Ted Tetterton, by half a lap. His time of 10:59 clipped a minute off the record.

Carl Petersen and Joe Burany both sustained severe injuries in a collision. They were taken to the hospital, where Burany was reported to have suffered a broken collar bone and shoulder, and Petersen a badly cut back.

FIRST ELIMINATION RACE, 12 LAPS—Won by Wally Zale; Marshall Lewis, second; Ray Richards, third. Time, 3:14.

Sealyhams Get Bid to Western Specialty Show

BY BOB BECKER.

For the first time in the history of the Western Specialty Clubs association, the organization that sponsors the big fall dog show in Chicago, Sealyham terriers are going to be exhibited in the show to be held next November. Eastern Sealyham terrier fanciers who have heard this bit of good news already are planning a big entry of these plucky white terriers that are gaining in popularity among American dog lovers.

The Western Specialty show, usually held the latter part of November every year, is a show limited to a certain number of breeds. For a number of years approximately 20 breeds have been represented. Last year there were 22. The show is staged by a combination of breed clubs that get together, choose their own judges and hold a two-day show under the same roof. This type of dog show therefore features a limited number of breeds as compared to the all-breed show staged every spring by the Chicago Kennel club, which has been in existence for 36 years.

The presence of the Sealyham terrier and the American Sealyham Terrier club in the coming fall show is due to the courtesy of Alex Stewart, president of the Chicago Kennel club. The approval of the Kennel club president is necessary before another specialty club may join in the fall show. This department asked Mr. Stewart to give his consent whereby the Sealyham terrier club could join the Western Specialty group. This consent was given without delay.

Wenstob and Oliver Head Marigold Card

Oliver's ambition is to score his sixth triumph in eight professional appearances, but this aim may prove to be too high for the 1936 American Olympic Golden Gloves titleholder. Wenstob has a powerful wallop in either hand. In addition he possesses considerable stamina. Oliver hopes his superior skill and speed will offset these apparent advantages of his opponent.

Dizzy Taken Out After Six Innings.

St. Louis, Mo., June 27.—(AP)—Carl Hubbell triumphed over his arch rival, Dizzy Dean, today in pitching the New York Giants to an 8 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

An overflow crowd of 38,719 was attracted by the magnet of the Hubbell-Dean duel, making a total of more than 120,000 who have witnessed the two pitchers in their three encounters so far this year. Hubbell has won two of them.

Mel Ott smashed his 14th and 15th home runs of the year in leading the Giants' 10 hit assault on Dean, who left the game after the sixth inning. The New Yorkers got another hit off young Ray Harrell and three more off Jesse Haines to bring their final total to 14.

Dizzy, although he failed to distinguish himself by his pitching, contributed the fielding gem, an unassisted double play. After Ott had singled in the second inning, Johnny McCarthy, attempting to bunt, lined to the pitcher. Dizzy dropped the ball purposely, ran over, tagged Ott and then stepped on first base.

LATIN AMERICAN DEBT RECORD IS TERMED POOR

Bond Group Reports on World Situation.

Pointing out that Central and South American countries have made the poorest showing in adjustment of their defaulted debts, the Foreign Bondholders' Protective Council, Inc., last night made public its annual report for 1936. The report consists of a book of 866 pages designed to present a complete outline of the situation with respect to dollar bonds issued or guaranteed by foreign governments or their political subdivisions. It summarizes the work of the council during last year.

In calling attention to the record of Latin American countries, the reports states that approximately $1,168,683,972 or 76 per cent of the $1,541,456,063 of dollar bonds of this group were in default on Dec. 31, 1936.

Exports Below Imports.

"In 1936 exports from the United States to Latin America totaled $395,328,022 while imports totaled $501,794,128," the council said. "The balance against the United States was $106,466,106, more than enough exchange—as a block—to pay the annual interest charges in full."

The report also pointed out that unpaid interest amounted to $300,000,000 or approximately 80 per cent of one year's exports from the United States to Latin America, and that foreign investments of American citizens in these countries are approximately four times annual exports. The amount in default, it added, is just slightly less than the total increase in savings accounts in banks of the United States in the year ended June 30, 1935.

100 Issues in Default.

Latin American obligations in default included forty-four issues of national governments, 39 issues of provincial governments, and 17 corporate issues guaranteed by national governments. This accounts for 100 of the 236 issues of governmental dollar bonds in default in the world.

Of the world total of 522 issues of approximately $5,375,000,000 of dollar bonds more thn $2,000,000,000 were in default at the end of 1936. Of the European bonds in this total, half were in default [showing the influence of the German situation]. Of far east and African bonds, 2.4 per cent were in default. The figure on Canadian bonds was 3.8 per cent.

Classifying the foreign bonds in another way, defaults exist in more than 40 per cent of national and municipal issues, more than 36 per cent of state or provincial issues, and more than 33 per cent of corporate issues carrying government guarantees.

333 North Michigan Avenue.

Investors' Guide: I have a bond on 333 North Michigan Avenue. Kindly give me information regarding it.—Mrs. E. J. B.

Answer: Holders of first mortgage 6 per cent bonds issued by the 333 North Michigan Avenue Building corporation receive all preferred stock and 51 per cent of the common stock of the 333 Building corporation, which acquired property formerly securing the bonds under terms of a plan of reorganization placed in effect during May, 1937.

The property consists of land and a thirty-two story office building erected in 1927 at 333 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.

Default occurred on the old bonds in 1932 and foreclosure proceedings were begun on behalf of bondholders. In 1934, however, a petition was filed for reorganization under provisions of the federal bankruptcy laws. The plan finally placed in effect was confirmed by the United States District court in January, 1936, but its consummation was held up by a small group of dissenting bondholders. They contended that bondholders were entitled to foreclosure and freezing out of stockholders on grounds that the value of the building was less than the bonds. They carried their case to the Supreme court before being forced to accept defeat.

Holders of the $5,999,500 of nonguaranteed bonds receive one share of $5 dividend prior preferred stock, one share of $1 par common stock, and $2.50 cash for each $100 of bonds.

Holders of the $89,500 of guaranteed bonds receive one share of $5 dividend junior preferred and one share of common stock for each $100 of bonds.

Dividends on the prior preferred are cumulative to the extent earned until July 1, 1939, after which they are fully cumulative. The same provisions apply to the junior preferred, except that it is subject to rights of the prior preferred. A sinking fund of 25 per cent of net income available for dividends is to be used for retirement of prior preferred until all shares are retired, after which it is to be applied to retirement of junior preferred. All classes of stock have one vote for each share.

The plan now is binding on all security holders, and new stock may be obtained from the City National Bank and Trust company, Chicago, transfer agent for the new corporation. Dividends to be paid and the value of the new stock will depend on earnings of the property.

Chile Blames U. S. Banks for Debt Default

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 27.—Chilean resentment of foreign criticism of her $450,000,000 external debt payment arrangements is specially directed against American bondholders' organizations, whose "officious" attitude is flayed in a report issued by the ministry of foreign relations and commerce.

This report also contains first Latin American official acceptance of the viewpoint that southern governments are not alone in responsibility for loan defaults. So far as the Chilean government is concerned, "it shares this responsibility before the bondholders with the bankers and agents who, during the period of the American 'boom,' induced various countries to indebt themselves extraordinarily far beyond their normal economic possibilities," the report says. "The blame attaching to these bankers and agents, who saw no other end than their commissions, has been admitted by high authorities of the United States."

Debt Service Limited.

Chile's debt arrangements, which have come in for American and European continental criticism, are contained in the law of Jan. 1, 1935, which allots the government's revenue from nitrate and copper for debt service. Half of this revenue, which totaled 4¼ million dollars in 1935 and 5 millions in 1936, goes to interest, and the other half to redemption of bonds on the open market. Bonds redeemed in this way during the two years have a nominal value of $44,000,000.

American bondholders object to revenue for the debt service being limited to specific industries. They consider it should be a charge on the budget as a whole. They also object to half the money being used to buy up their bonds, already depreciated by Chile's own default action. All the money should go to interest, they argue.

Britains Accept Plan.

The Chilean case, as set forth in the foreign office report by Valentin Magallanes, president of the Amortization bank that effects the debt service, is strengthened by the fact that 93 per cent of the British bondholders cash their coupons in accordance with the new law. Only the Americans and continental Europeans hold out.

Chile contends that most of the present bondholders purchased at the present depressed rates, which yield an interest return from 3 to 5 per cent. Judged on emission values, the interest rate was 0.475 per cent in 1935 and 0.605 per cent in 1936. Redemption is justified because it provides a sure buyer on the market, facilitating liquidation for those who desire it and pushing up the value.

Magallanes said Chile's payments were in accordance with capacity, a rule uniformly applied throughout the world. The big loans were made principally because this country possessed nitrate and copper wealth. The payment arrangement was considered equitable, therefore, because it gives the creditors the totality of the revenue in view at the time the loan was made.

WORLD TRADE CONGRESS OPENS IN BERLIN TODAY

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 27.—Something like an informal world economic conference begins here tomorrow when 1,600 delegates representing forty of the most important countries, excepting Russia, assemble in the German opera house for the formal opening of the ninth general congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, which is to discuss ways and means for improving world trade as one approach toward world peace.

The importance attached to the meeting in German quarters is attested by the fact that Chancellor Hitler is scheduled to be present at the opening ceremony, while Gen. Herman W. Goering, minister of air, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, will extend Germany's welcome to the congress and expound Germany's viewpoint before this representative world gathering.

WALL ST. MIND ON ONE THING—LABOR TROUBLE

Market Continues in Doldrums.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 27.—The new week finds little change in the stock market picture. Labor matters continue to provide the chief topic of speculative comment around the board rooms as they have for the last several weeks. Concern over the Mediterranean crisis has become a little more pronounced, brokers agree, due to the fresh "scares" raised by events at Rome and Berlin and there is some anxiety, they add, over the more serious turn taken by French financial affairs following the defeat of the Blum government.

With so many uncertainties to plague its way, the market seems content to crawl along in much the same irresolute fashion it has been following. "Average" prices show a loss of about 1½ points on the week, but all of this decline was accounted for in yesterday's abbreviated dealings, largely on the "unloading" of wirehouses against possible developments of the week-end.

Ups and Downs of Market.

There was a slight recession in the figures on Monday, but enough buying appeared on Tuesday to more than restore the loss and further modest gains were chalked up on Wednesday's and Thursday's dealings. Fresh liquidation appeared on Friday in sufficient volume to tilt the "averages" to the minus side again and yesterday THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S index of fifty representative issues sold down 1.57 points with twenty-five industrials dipping more than $2 a share.

As usual in the decline, which got under way about the middle of March, the weakness was shared by virtually all groups of the list with industrials bearing the brunt of the pressure.

Steels Gain Ground.

The steels, curiously enough, gained ground in spite of the widespread strikes besetting the industry. United States Steel, Bethlehem, and Republic, the three corporations figuring most frequently in the week's strike news, all saw their common shares marked up a point or more.

Utility shares, long the neglected "orphans" of the list, found some fresh friends on a growing belief that the power industry is due for some kinder treatment by the administration. Many traders were reported "switching" from the carriers to the utilities. Several issues of the group scored modest gains on the week.

Farm implement and mail order stocks just about held their own. The oils held firm. Coppers did nothing exciting in spite of reports of a better price trend for the metal in overseas markets.

Trading on the whole was at the slowest pace of any week since that ended on March 30, 1935, the turnover for the five and one-half sessions amounting to only 2,925,830 shares.

EXPECT SHARP UPTURN IN STEEL OPERATING RATE

Resumption of operations at several steel plants which had been closed by strikes is expected to cause a sharp rise in the operating rate of the steel industry this week, the magazine Steel said yesterday. Operations last week were at 74 per cent of ingot capacity, Steel reported, off 1½ points, due largely to the closing of the Bethlehem Steel plant at Johnstown, Pa., by Gov. Earle.

Closing of the latter plant resulted in a drop in output of 10 points to 82 per cent in the Pittsburgh area. Declines of one point at Youngstown to 29 per cent, one at Buffalo to 88, and 7 points at Cincinnati to 86 were offset by gains of three points to 49 at Cleveland, two points to 99 at Detroit and ten points in New England to 92 per cent of capacity.

No change in operating rates were made at Chicago at 63½ per cent, eastern Pennsylvania at 67, Wheeling at 93, Birmingham at 83, and St. Louis at 93.

7 AUTO CONCERNS ACCEPT AD EDICT OF GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—Seven automobile manufacturing companies have agreed to stop certain advertising methods complained of by the federal trade commission, it was announced today.

At the same time Alvan Macauley, who is in New York for a meeting of the directors of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, of which he is president, announced through his Washington office that members of the association have agreed to change their advertising methods along some lines.

While the stipulations of the seven motor companies and Macauley's announcement were not phrased in the same language, their effect appeared to be about the same—barring the use of prices in advertisements which do not include the cost of usual accessories or in other respects conceal the real cost to the potential purchaser.

The companies which the commission said had stipulated to change their advertising methods were the Hudson Motor Car company, Graham-Paige Motors corporation, the Studebaker corporation and the Studebaker Sales Corporation of America, Chrysler corporation, Nash-Kelvinator corporation, Packard Motor Car company, and the Auburn Automobile company. The Chrysler stipulation included its subsidiaries, Chrysler Sales corporation, De Soto, Dodge Brothers, and Plymouth.

B. F. Avery & Sons Earns $474,584 for 12 Months

Earnings of B. F. Avery & Sons company for the twelve months ended May 31, amounted to $474,584 before interest and federal taxes, the company announced last night. This represents a gain of 36 per cent over the $349,068 reported for the preceding twelve months. Earnings were said to be equal to $2.35 a share on the common stock before surtax on undistributed profits for the twelve months' period.

Everyday Economics

Nonadmitted Assets.

"Can you tell me," writes an inquirer, "the meaning of the term 'unadmitted assets' as this pertains to the books of an insurance company? Are there some assets which for some reason they do not carry on their books?"

There may be assets which an insurance company does not carry on its books, but these are not "nonadmitted assets." Assets not admitted usually consist mainly of the difference between book value and market value of securities when market value is less than the securities cost. This subtraction is made in arriving at "admitted assets" because it is much simpler than going through investments and changing their appraised value on the books every time a statement is issued. Investments are put on the books of an insurance company at their cost and stay that way.

During the depression insurance companies had large amounts of nonadmitted assets, but as security prices have increased the amounts have been reduced sharply. As a result most companies have a cushion [excess of market value over book value] on many of their investments rather than being required to make deductions of nonadmitted assets. This does not affect securities whose values still are less than cost, nor are the books changed to reflect market values in excess of cost.

Other items which may be shown as assets but which are not admitted include agents' balances for premiums more than 90 days past due, furniture and fixtures, and loans made to establish agencies or to help agents.

Electric Rate in Many Cities Cut During 1936

Washington, D. C., June 27.—(AP)—Many consumers enjoyed cuts in electricity rates during 1936, the federal power commission reported today. It studied 132 American cities, and announced that the public in 66 per cent of them had lower rates to pay Jan. 1, 1937, than on Jan. 1, 1936.

RUSSIANS LEARN U. S. AIR SECRETS, CAUSE CONCERN

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—Steadily and in increasing numbers Russian aeronautical engineers and mechanics, sent to this country by the soviet government, are being taken into key plants of the American aviation industry. This fact is beginning to cause concern in the minds of high government officials closely identified with both military and commercial aviation.

They view with mixed feelings a condition which the aircraft industry itself is inclined to boast about—the fact that in the first four months of 1937 the soviets bought in this country aeronautical products valued at nearly four times as much as their total imports for the whole of last year. The sale of planes and accessories to Russia in itself may be a matter of satisfaction, but the conditions under which these sales are made is what is causing worry.

"It isn't just that they buy our planes," one official said. "They demand, as a condition of purchase, that their engineers be permitted inside the plants to take part in the manufacture, to learn our methods of standardization, our secrets, born of many years' experience in working methods and machine production in which we lead the world."

WARM WEATHER BOOSTS CHICAGO SALES VOLUME

Last week's heat wave accelerated sales of summer clothing, beach and sports wear to near record proportions in many Chicago stores, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday.

The Braddock-Louis fight for the world's heavyweight championship brought large numbers of out of town visitors to the city, adding to the business of Chicago hotels, restaurants, and transportation agencies.

Hundreds of merchants who were in Chicago for their annual conventions reported excellent business and good prospects due to increased farm earnings.

Abandon Hope for Bumper Wheat Crop

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

While the United States is assured of the biggest wheat harvest that it has had in years the possibility of an abundant supply either in this country or in the world market during the coming 12 months appears to be definitly eliminated. Should the spring crops in the American northwest and Canada experience serious deterioration between now and harvest a market condition bordering on scarcity would result.

While appraisals of the wheat outlook in Europe are indefinite, early prospects suggest that production will not differ materially from last year. It is estimated that importing countries will need nearly 600 million bushels of wheat in the twelve month period beginning next Aug. 1.

May Need All Surplus.

On the basis of the prospective world supply the United States and Canada will be called upon for a minimum of 250 million bushels during the coming year. Present prospects do not suggest that the surplus production in North America will exceed that figure by a wide margin.

The fact is that supplies of wheat throughout the world have been cut to a minimum by the current consumptive requirements during the last year. Even a fair harvest in the principal producing countries would do no more than meet the normal requirements of the coming year. Anything short of that would be calamitous.

On the basis of the world outlook American wheat farmers appear to be assured of comparatively high prices throughout the coming year.

Larger Harvest Suggested.

Many questions about the American wheat crop remain unanswered. The extent to which rust damage may cut down the winter harvest is still a moot question. In Texas and Oklahoma where the harvest is underway the reports that are coming are favorable which suggest to some observers that earlier estimates of yields will be exceeded by a good margin.

The government's June 1 estimate of a winter wheat output of 649 million bushels in the opinion of many observers will fall well below the final return.

The harvest of spring wheat is still so far in the future that production estimates are highly speculative. Because of the presence of rust in the winter wheat belt there has been much talk of the possibility of serious damage by rust to the spring crop. The disastrous destruction of the crop in July, 1935, is recalled as a reminder of what may occur.

INCOME OF U. S. IS FIFTY MILLION OVER ESTIMATE

Spending Increased by 200 Million.

Washington, D. C., June 27.—(AP)—The government's income and outgo for the 1937 fiscal year appeared likely today to exceed the official estimates.

The year ends Wednesday midnight. Latest figures indicated that total revenue will top the estimates by about $50,000,000 and that spending will climb $200,000,000 above the predicted figure.

The net deficit already is $114,000,000 more than the $2,557,000,000 mentioned in President Roosevelt's revised estimate last April. The net deficit figure does not include $104,000,000 spent for debt retirement.

Debt Over 36 Billion.

When this fiscal period ends, the public debt is expected to stand at about $36,300,000,000. This would be about $300,000,000 less than the all-time high of June 15, but would top the debt of a year ago by $2,200,000,000.

Since the government's surpluses melted into deficits in 1931, the public debt has climbed $20,115,000,000, reaching $36,388,000,000 on June 23, the latest date for which figures are available.

With only one week of this fiscal period unreported, a treasury compilation showed revenues since last July 1 have totaled $5,192,836,000. Should collections continue at the current rate, the total would reach about $5,275,000,000 on June 30, compared with Mr. Roosevelt's forecast of $5,224,000,000.

Under Original Estimate.

The expected total, however, still would be $553,000,000 under the President's original revenue estimate last January. This forecast was revised after March income tax collections fell 17 per cent under estimates.

On the spending side, the treasury reports indicate aggregate outlays of about $8,000,000,000 exclusive of debt retirement. This would be $219,000,000 over the revised forecast and $76,000,000 under the original estimate.

Michigan's Celery Crop Reported Badly Damaged

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 27.—[Special.]—Extensive damage from blight and water rot is reported to the celery crop throughout this area as result of recent heavy rains and humid weather, local growers reported, following a survey. Heretofore the growing crop has shown the best prospect in six years. The first celery harvest was started this week.

Robert Irwin, Killer of 3, Flown Back to New York After Surrender and Confession in Chicago

SLAYER RETURNED TO NEW YORK—Robert Irwin (in white suit), handcuffed to detective as he arrived in New York last night after plane trip from Chicago to face charges of murdering Veronica Gedeon, her mother, and a roomer.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.] (Story on page 1.)

VICTIM OF TRIPLE SLAYING—Veronica Gedeon, New York artists' and photographers' model, who was slain by Irwin as he lay in wait in her flat for her sister, who was his intended victim, but who escaped.
(Story on page 1.)

TWO KILLED WHEN CAR IS WRECKED IN ACCIDENT—This is all that was left of an automobile after it was struck by street car in front of 4854 Madison street early yesterday and crushed against safety island. John Barry of Oak Park and William McClelland Jr., 4421 Congress street, both 21, were killed. (Story on page 11.)

VARYING MOODS OF MURDERER—Triple killer as he laughed during questioning here yesterday, and then meditatively smoking a cigaret. After his surrender in Chicago he confessed his crimes and waived extradition.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

INTENDED VICTIM OF SCULPTOR—Mrs. Ethel Kudner, Veronica's sister, whom Irwin meant to kill, as she appeared in New York yesterday. Irwin said his killing of the model was incidental to his plan to murder Mrs. Kudner.
(Story on page 1.)

SPRAYING DEATH ON MOSQUITOES—Truck belonging to the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district spreading death yesterday among the pests in the swamps south of Villa Park in Du Page county.

CHICAGO TRAIN DERAILED, 9 INJURED—Scene near New London, Wis., last night after the Flambeau, crack Chicago and North Western train, was derailed. Nine passengers were injured and 150 others badly jolted.

Fireworks Sold Despite Ban

At this fireworks stand just outside the city limits on South Western avenue, children are seen buying explosives that are barred in Chicago. City police have been ordered to take children owning fireworks to their parents and warn them that their use is in violation of the law. (Story on page 1.)

AFTER SOLUTION OF CRIME—Robert Irwin, artist-sculptor, in office of Sherif Toman yesterday after he surrendered and confessed. Some one knocked off his hat, and here he is reaching for it.
